MOODY AND SANKEY.

Their Thanksgiving Services in Philadelphia.

The Depot Church Crowded—Over Eleven Thousand in Attendance at the Evening Meeting—Thousands Turned Away from the Doors—The Character of the Services.

[From the Philadelphia Press.]

Never was our National Thanksgiving more perfectly symbolized than in the scene which yesterday morning gladdened the eyes of the Evangelists as they entered the old exhibition building at Thirteenth and Market streets to begin their early prayer-meeting. The seemingly limitless auditorium, decorated as it is in our national colors, with wide, beautiful expanses of pure white between the relieving tints, was almost filled with eager worshippers, whose very glances beamed with praise and thanksgiving, while with many a benison and on-silvery pinions the light of opening day descending earthward poured in a flood of welcome through the glass-covered roof and rested on the picture like a dove of peace.

Several hundred members of the combination choir were early in their seats on the stage, and for half an hour before the opening of the services practiced the more difficult of the hymns in the collection used under the direction of Mr. Fischer. The singing during this part of the time was not at all spirited, but as many of the airs were new and essayed for the first time, very great heartiness could not be expected in their rendition. At about a quarter of 8 o'clock the side doors were thrown open to all comers, and in a few moments almost all of the one thousand seats on the stage were taken. As many of the new arrivals were very good singers, and as this made an addition of two or three hundred voices to the choir, the effect can be imagined when at Mr. Sankey's suggestion all joined in singing the hymn—

Rejoice and be glad,
The Redeemer has come;
Go look on His cradle,
His cross, and His tomb.

CHORUS—Sound His praises, tell the story,
Of Him who was slain;
Sound His praises, tell with gladness,
He liveth again.

The Singing.

This was sung with a cheerful heartiness—a force, power, and expression as unexpected to those who had attended the previous services as it was well befitting the day which this hymn of praise so well opened. At its conclusion, Mr. Moody arose and said that before the five minutes of silent prayer the special requests would be read by Rev. Dr. Newton. This gentleman stated that it had been deci ded to postpone the reading of all requests this week except for Christian workers. The admitted requests, only four in number, were then read. The first was from the congregation of the Chambers Presbyterian Church, desiring special prayers for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the people, and for direction in the selection of a spiritual pastor and master for the future; another was from a lady who, though a member of a church, feared that she was not a Christian, and desired prayers for her comfort and guidance to the right path; a third was from the wife of a member of the choir, requesting special prayers for her husband, who, while pursuing his daily vocation, had fallen from a third-story window and been severely if not dangerously injured. The last and most affecting was from a pastor of a church in this city, requesting the prayers of the meeting on his behalf. He related that, though a worker in an important field, he felt that he was unworthy of his position. "I do not ask your prayers for a lukewarm flock," he continued: "I feel that 'I am the man;' I have tried to tell my people of the riches of the Gospel of Christ; I have tried to lead them in the right path, but I am sure that my own soul is barren. If I am not in the enjoyment of the blessing of Divine grace myself, how can I lead others, or persuade sinners to turn to Christ?" When Dr. Newton concluded five minutes were occupied in silent prayer, after which Dr. Newton offered up a fervent supplication to the Father of all for the aid of the Holy Spirit for those who had thus humbled themselves before the Throne.

The 100th Psalm was then sung by the thousands gathered within the spacious structure with an enthusiasm amounting almost to abandonment, and nothing more stirring or impressive could be imagined than the effect of the grand but ever-familiar notes of "Old Hundred" rolling in majestic waves of harmonious sound from one end of the great building to the other. As the last melodious echoes of the combined voices died away among the white rafters (where a pair of doves were suggestively flying from timber to timber) Mr. Moody arose and said: "I suppose this audience have come up here this morning to give thanks to God for all the benefits which they have received. In running over the past year we can no doubt find numberless blessings to be thankful for, but we must put the gift of Christ's sacrifice for our salvation above and beyond all gifts. Let us thank Him again for the gift of His coming. I will read to you portions of the 107th psalm. Mr. Moody commented upon this at some length, and concluded with a fervent prayer for a blessing upon the people of Philadelphia, accompanying it with heartfelt thanks for all the goodness and loving kindness thus far shown by the Father. He prayed particularly for the young men who had attended the meeting of the previous evening, and for the pastor who had requested Divine aid to make fertile his now barren heart.

Mr. Sankey's Address.

And their hymn was sung and after a few remarks from Dr. Malin, Mr. Sankey rose from his Cabinet organ, behind which he had remained seated during the service, and said: "How many prodigal sons may be restored to their homes to-day! The recurrence of Thanksgiving recalls to my mind a story told me by a very dear friend in Europe of a prodigal son who was saved by love. A wayward boy who could not be persuaded to do good, whose steps were only evil continually, was finally at the request of his brothers, sent into the street. He went away, but on Thanksgiving day poor John, homesick and heartsick, returned. His father saw the poor wanderer at the door, and received him back to his arms. Then his brothers again demanded that the black sheep should again be cast out, but the father answered, 'No, no, my son John, I'll not cast thee out; come, gather around our board to-day.' This overwhelming love was too much. The long-lost prodigal wept, the family knelt with him and prayed for him, and to-day that boy is one of the hardest workers for Christ to be found in all Europe. A father's love saved him! Let us remember that. Our friends may cast us off, but our Heavenly Father will receive us if we only knock at the door. I will now sing you the hymn 'Ninety and Nine.'" Mr. Sankey here took his seat and in a sweet voice sang with touching expression the words.

Five minutes were again spent in silent devotion, after which Rev. Dr. Newton made affecting prayers for Divine aid and grace.

Rev. Dr. Hatfield made a brief address, and the meeting adjourned with the doxology and the benediction.

The Evening Meeting

was attended by the largest crowd that has yet assembled. All of the eleven thousand seats were occupied. But the throng was so great that before the doors could be closed many more succeeded in forcing themselves into the place than could be accommodated with seats. There were thousands of anxious persons turned away and not a few left greatly disappointed, and from the remarks that were overheard they were not pleased that the immense hall was crowded so early, for it should be remembered that at a quarter of seven o'clock it became absolutely necessary to close the doors because of the crowded condition of the place. The interest in the meetings is plainly growing, and very rapidly. It was thought that the arrangements made were ample for any contingency, but the result shows that, at least yesterday, if the building had been twice as large it could have been filled. The congregations that have nightly assembled are of all classes, many of the city's best and most promising citizens being among them. The order and decorum is singularly manifest, for on no occasion has there been the slightest confusion or noise, the bulk of the audiences seemingly bent upon one object, that of hearing the great Revivalists and of according to them the closest and most respectful hearing. While it may be said with truth that many are drawn by idle curiosity, yet so interested do they become that they are irresistably forced to repeat their visit, and finally unconsciously they are brought under the influence and power of the men who are laboring for the building up of the Christian religion and for converts.

The exercises consisted of singing by the choir of trained voices, singing by Mr. Sankey and an address on "Praising God," by Mr. Moody.

(From the New York Tribune.)

There is nothing new to chronicle in the course of the revival here (Philadelphia) except the organization of a movement among the women—a duplicate in the main of the young men's movement. The meeting to-night was as large as it could be. In fact, one night meeting is just like another in point of attendance. The hall is always packed, and the doors locked some time before the hour for beginning the services. Last night Mr. Moody showed his presence of mind and his control over the audience in a striking manner. In the midst of his sermon a colored woman began screaming and praying in camp-meeting style, and all over the hall people began to get up to see whence the disturbance proceeded. Mr. Moody stopped short and said: "The ushers will take that person out of the room immediately. Let us all rise and sing 'Rock of Ages.'" At a wave of his hand the congregation rose and instantly joined in the hymn. The shouts of the woman as she was taken out were of course drowned in the torrent of song. When two verses had been sung, Mr. Moody waved his hand again, the audience resumed their seats, and after a few pleasant words about people having full liberty to shout "amen" on their way home, the preacher resumed the thread of his discourse.

PHILADELPHIA, November 26.—The attendance yesterday morning not being sufficient to fill the old freight depot, the committee divided the building by drawing canvass across the middle, thus giving the lower part a compact appearance. At the prayer meeting this morning the attendance numbered about 3,000.

THE WHISKY RING.

Trial of Avery at St. Louis—Examination of Witnesses—An Official that Would Not Receive a Bribe.

ST. LOUIS, November 20.—The Avery trial was continued to-day in the United States District Court. S. D. Thorp, United States storekeeper, repeated his testimony in the McDonald case, with the addition that Joyce frequently showed him letters purporting to be from Avery and Babcock relative to the "crooked" whisky. The witness did not know Avery's handwriting, therefore he could not tell whether they were really written by him. Fitzroy once showed him a letter bearing Avery's signature, but did not tell him what it contained, other than it said everything was all right.

Alfred Bevis, of Bevis & Fraser, testified to about the same thing as Thorp; also that Joyce on several occasions showed him letters purporting to come from Avery and Babcock, notifying the ring of the coming of agents. He could not, however, identify Avery's handwriting. These letters and also telegrams were shown to give distillers confidence that they could be protected in illicit distilling. The famous dispatch received here four days before the seizures were made last May came from Mr. Barnes, a traveling agent of Newcomb, Buchanan & Co., Louisville, who seemed to know all about it.

On cross-examination he said he had been informed Secretary Bristow was interested in the firm of Newcomb, Buchanan & Co.

This created a sensation in court, and General Henderson said if the defense would show Bristow was a member of the ring the prosecution would have him indicted at once.

J. L. Josephs, Chief Clerk of the Division of Accounts in the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue testified that he sent Avery to St. Louis in 1872 to examine the accounts of Revenue Agent Gunther. Avery made a verbal report on his return that Gunther's accounts were probably correct; met Avery on the street in December, 1872; he remarked that Joyce was going to send us a Christmas present. In the February following Avery handed me a package containing one hundred dollars. I told Avery I should return it to Joyce, assuming it came from him, to which Avery replied that I need not do that, as it was sent in such a manner that no trouble could come from it. I immediately bought a draft for one hundred dollars, mailed it to Joyce in St. Louis, and reported the matter to Deputy Commission Rodgers. The latter spoke to Avery about it, and Avery told him he intended to return his money also, which I understood he did. The draft was returned to me in a few days, with the endorsement erased, and without a word of explanation.

THE GALLOWS.

A Double Execution at Monroe, La.

MONROE, LA., November 26.—Fully 5,000 people, mostly colored, gathered here to day to witness the execution of Tony Nellum and Alcee Harris, condemned to death for the murder of Henry Harris, the husband of Alcee, all colored. The gallows was erected in the centre of the Court House square, near the jail. At a quarter past ten the condemned were conducted to the scaffold. The reading of the death warrants followed. The condemned were greatly agitated, and only Nellum spoke. The confessions of both, published in the Ouachita Telegraph, to-day, show undoubted guilt and a most brutal murder. Alcee Harris, aged twenty-four years, died with only a slight struggle. Nellum, after falling, caught the rope above and the post at the side. His arms were seized and held down by the Sheriff and jailor until his struggles ceased. The arms were imperfectly pinioned behind between the elbow and shoulder, and by exertion his hands were free. Forty minutes after the fall the condemned were cut down. The execution was conducted without interruption or expressions of disapprobation. The murder was committed in May, 1874, by Nellum, who killed Harris in bed with an axe, and threw the body into a bayou. His wife, Alcee, confessed that she was a participant, and was glad of her husband's death, because he had beaten her and threatened to take her life.

NEW ORLEANS, November 26.—Including those at Monroe to-day, nine persons have been executed for murder in the three years that the present State administration has been in power, and three other death warrants have been signed and await execution. The records of the Secretary of State's office show that in the preceding fifteen years only three executions for murder had taken place by process of law in the State of Louisiana.

TEXAS & PACIFIC R. R.

Meeting of the Committee to Draft a Memorial to Congress.

ST. LOUIS, November 26.—Those members of the committee appointed by President Matthews, of the National Railway Convention, to draft a memorial to Congress for aid in the construction of the Texas & Pacific Railroad, still remaining in the city, met at the Southern Hotel to-day, and elected James O. Broadhead, of St. Louis, Chairman, and Judge Kennard, of New Orleans, Secretary. Resolutions were adopted requesting the chairman to obtain proof sheets of the address to the people of the United States to be prepared by President Matthews, and forward them to members of the committee for information or comment, authorizing the chairman to convene the committee at his direction, three members to constitute a quorum at any such meeting, requesting the chairman to appoint a sub-committee to appear, at their direction, before the proper committee of the Senate and House of Representatives to explain and advocate the measure adopted by the convention, and authorizing the chairman of the committee to append the name of each member of the committee to the address of President Matthews, when completed. The committee then adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

THE INDIANS.

The Situation Serious in New Mexico—Trouble Anticipated—The Citizens Arming for Defense.

CIMMARRON, N. M., November 26.—The situation here is still serious. The Government has demanded the delivery to the civil authorities of Indians engaged in the shooting at the agency. Thus far the Indians have failed to comply. Their rations have been stopped at the agency. Capt. McClure's company of the Eighth cavalry is here and the citizens are arming in anticipation of a further outbreak. Capt. Allison's company of volunteers, and from two to three hundred other citizens, will take the field in case of further hostilities. The Apaches are camped in the mountains to the number of two hundred and fifty warriors, and expect reinforcements from the Utes. Their women and children are sent away. The Interior Department has sent orders to the agent to turn over the control of the Indians to the military. The citizens, with few exceptions, are urging the removal of the Indians to a reservation to prevent further depredations.

Music Hall in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, November 26.—The citizens' subscription of $105,000, to be added to the donation of $145,000 made by Reuben Springer, for building a Music Hall, has been completed, and the entire fund of one quarter million will be used in the erection of permanent buildings on the site of the present Exposition buildings, to be used as a hall for the May music festivals and for exposition purposes. The ground on which the building will be erected has been donated by the city for that purpose. It is expected that the building will be ready for use at the next musical festival in May, 1877.

The Disaster to the Magdalen Island Fleet.

QUEBEC, November 26.—A dispatch received from a survivor of the Magdalen Island fleet says six vessels were lost, and only seventeen men were saved out of sixty-two. The Government will send a steamer with provisions to the island.

SECOND EDITION

HENRY WILSON.

Funeral of the Late Vice President.

Imposing Ceremonies at the National Capital.

Reception of the Remains at Baltimore and Philadelphia.

The Site of the Grave at Natick.

WASHINGTON, November 26.—The funeral of Vice President Wilson took place in the Senate Chamber at half past ten o'clock this morning. Although the weather was very unfavorable the crowd was great. Many were unable to gain admission to the building after ten o'clock. The Senate Chamber was heavily draped in mourning, and immediately in front of the Vice President's table the catafalque was placed, the desks having all been removed from the chamber. Seats were arranged on the floor for the President and Cabinet, Supreme Court, members of the Senate and House of Representatives and other prominent persons. At 10:15 the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States, headed by Mr. Middleton, their clerk, entered and were assigned to the front row of seats on the right of the Vice President's desk. At 10:22 the body was taken from the rotunda to the Senate chamber, preceded by Rev. Dr. Sunderland, Chaplain of the Senate, Sergeant-at-Arms French, the Committee of Arrangements and pall bearers, and followed by the relatives of the deceased, among them his brother, Mr. Colbath, and wife.

The casket was carried by twelve soldiers, and as soon as it was placed on the catafalque prepared for its reception two privates of the Marine Corps, in full uniform, took position at the head and foot, and stood "at rest" throughout the entire service. Numerous crosses and crowns of white flowers, sent to the Capitol this morning by friends of the deceased, were placed on the coffin. As the body was brought into the chamber, all persons upon the floor arose, and Rev. Sunderland read from the passage:

"Lord, make me to know Thy ways," etc., and other selections from the Scriptures. Soon after the casket was placed on the catafalque, the President, accompanied by Secretaries, Fish, Bristow, Belknap, Robeson and Chandler, entered, and were assigned to the front row of seats, opposite those occupied by the Supreme Court, all of whom were clad in the robes of their office. The Committee of Arrangements and the Massachusetts Committee occupied seats immediately in the rear of the Supreme Court, and behind them were nearly all the members of the diplomatic corps, headed by Sir Edward Thornton, who is Dean, or oldest continuous member of the corps, and behind them were the citizens of Massachusetts temporarily residing in Washington. On the other side of the chamber the relatives of the deceased were seated in rear of the President, and next to them members of the Senate and House of Representatives. Among others on the floor were Adjutant General Townsend, Quartermaster General Ingalls and Judge Advocate General Holt and Assistant Judge Advocate General Dunn, Generals Pelouse, Van Vliet, Meier, Barns, Humphrey and other army offiicers, ex-Attorney General Williams, Commissioner Pratt, Frederick Douglass and others of prominence.

A Vacant Chair.

The chair of the Vice President was vacant and heavily draped in mourning. T. W. Ferry, of Michigan, President pro tem. of the Senate, occupied a seat at the clerk's desk. The officers of the Senate and the Committee of Arrangements wore white silk sashes gathered on the left shoulder in black and white rosettes. In spite of the very inclement weather, the largest part of those present were ladies. Among those in the diplomatic gallery were Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Belknap and Mrs. Bristow.

All being in readiness, Mr. Ferry announced that the services would now begin.

The Services.

Rev. Dr. Sunderland, standing at the Clerk's desk, then read a brief selection of Scripture, after which Rev. Dr. J. E. Rankin delivered an eloquent discourse. When the address was finished, Rev. Dr. Sunderland offered a prayer and pronounced the benediction.

The coffin was then closed and formed in the order prescribed and proceeded to the depot of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad. The streets along the route were thronged with spectators, who stood in the cold, drizzling rain. Guns were fired and the bells of churches throughout the city were tolled. The military escort, under command of Brevet Major General W. H. Emory, consisted of a full battalion of United States marines, stationed in this city, headed by the Marine Band, the First Regiment of District Militia, under command of Col. Robert J. Fleming, and the First Battalion of colored troops, under command of Maj. Chas. B. Fisher. The staff officers of the District military, and Col. Pontiers and three other officers of the Fifth Maryland regiment also formed part of the military escort.

The Funeral Car

was elaborately trimmed with black cloth, and surmounted by five heavy black plumes. It was drawn by six white horses, caparisoned in black, each one led by a groom in mourning. Surrounding this car was a guard of honor, consisting of three non-commissioned officers and ten privates under command of G. B. Haycock. Twelve soldiers from the National Service Corps, detailed as body bearers, followed. After the carriages came on foot members of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Massachusetts State Republican Association and Maryland Republican Association of this city, and a considerable number of white and colored citizens.

When the procession reached the station the President and Cabinet, the pall bearers, Committee of Arrangements, Supreme Court, and Massachusetts committee, followed the casket to the car, the guard of honor presenting arms as the remains and the President and Cabinet passed.

Transferring the Remains to the Massachusetts Delegation.

The casket having been placed on the platform, Senator Thurman, chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, addressing the Massachusetts committee, said:

"Gentlemen of Massachusetts: The funeral ceremonies at the National Capital over the remains of the late Vice President are here concluded, and we now deliver them to you to convey them to the State of which he was a citizen, and by which he was so much honored and which he so well deserved. In the performance of your mournful duties you will carry with you the sympathies of the nation and everywhere meet with sincere marks of respect for the illustrious dead."

Col. Wyman, in reply, said:

"They accepted the precious trust confided to them, and would convey the remains to Massachusetts, where they would receive all the honor that love and affection could bestow."

On the Cars.

The body was then placed in the car, and the following gentlemen, who will accompany it to Massachusetts, took their places in the train: Col. Edward Wyman, aid to Governor Gaston; Col. Geo. H. Campbell, Private Secretary of the Governor; Hon. Seth Turner, Hon. E. H. Dunn, members of the Executive Committee; Senator Boutwell, of the Council of Massachusetts; Capt. Haycock and a guard of honor from the Marine Corps; Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms Jas. I. Christie; the delegation of officers from the Maryland regiments; A. G. Hills, of the Boston Journal, and Frederick Douglass; James Wormley and Robert Purvis, who, as personal friends of Mr. Wilson, were especially invited by the Massachusetts committee to accompany the remains to Boston. Among the

on the casket in the Senate chamber was a large monument, bearing the following inscription: "Floral offering from the South, by Rev. David Wills, for the funeral of the lamented Vice President, the student, statesman, philanthropist and Christian, whose name will ever live in the annals of his admiring countrymen, and whose memory will be cherished by the wise and good without respect to section or party." A large cross from Mrs. Grant also rested upon the casket.

At Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, November 26.—The funeral train bearing the remains of the late Vice President arrived at the Union Depot at 3:11 P. M. Notwithstanding the rain, Charles street and the approaches to the depot were crowded with people. Within the depot enclosure the First Brigade of Infantry, under Brigadier General Herbert, consisting of the Fifth Regiment, Lieut. Col. Loney, the Sixth Regiment, Col. Peteas commanding, and a body of soldiers and sailors of the late war, under General Felix Agnues, were drawn up as an escort. The command of General Agnues was here joined by about thirty ex-soldiers and sailors under General Tyler, who had gone to Washington this morning, and accompanied the procession to Baltimore. Immediately after their arrival the casket containing the remains of the Vice President was borne to the hearse, the band of the Sixth Regiment playing "Rest, Spirit, Rest." The procession then formed in the following order: A platoon of policemen, under Captain Earhart; Sixth Regiment, six companies strong, in full dress uniform, preceded by a band and drum corps; soldiers and sailors of the late war, one hundred strong, and a detachment of Post No. 7, G. A. R., about thirty men (colored); Fifth Regiment, ten companies, with a band and drum corps; four carriages containing members of the committees from Washington; the hearse, containing the casket, drawn by four black horses, and guarded by an escort of marines under Capt. Haycock; and five carriages with members of the committees of escort. The cortege moved from the depot to the funeral dirge along Charles street to Baltimore street, down Baltimore to Holliday, to City Hall.

The entire line of march, a distance of nearly a mile and a half, was thronged with spectators, who faced the drenching rain. At City Hall and vicinity fully five thousand persons were awaiting the procession. On its arrival at a little after four o'clock the escort was drawn in line, facing west to City Hall. The hearse then moved forward and halted at the eastern entrance, the regiments standing at "present arms," and the band of the Fifth Regiment playing the "Dead March in Saul." The casket was borne from the hearse and placed on a bier in the rotunda, which was tastefully draped in mourning, festooned with white fringe and tassels, as were the halls and doorways leading to the rotunda. The several committees accompanying the remains were received by Mayor Latrobe in the Mayor's reception room, assisted by ex-Mayor Geo. Wm. Brown, the present Chief Judge of the City Courts, ex-Mayor Robt. T. Banks, and ex-Mayor Joshua Vansant.

The casket was profusely strewn with crosses and boquets of camelias, colla lillies, immortelles, and other flowers—the tribute of admirers and friends of the distinguished deceased. The doors were then thrown open, and the vast crowd passed through the rotunda for an hour and a half, taking at the features so long familiar to the public. About half-past five o'clock the casket was closed, the line of march again formed, the body removed to the hearse, and the procession marched to the Calvert street depot, where the remains were placed on a train, which left for Philadelphia at 6:25. During the ceremonies in the city bells were tolled, and there was every demonstration of respect to the deceased.

Mr. Wilson's Grave.

The lot where the Vice President's remains are to be finally laid is situated on a charming little eminence in the extreme northeastery corner of Dell Park Cemetery, about three-fourths of a mile from the village, in a westerly direction, and overlooking the town and Lake Cochituate, the view from the spot being extensive and very attractive. The lot is enclosed by a granite curb, which is surrounded by a neatly graveled driveway. On either side of the front entrance are tasteful shrubs, and a little in front of the centre is a beautiful sarcophagus about four feet long, three and a half feet high and twenty inches wide, and consisting of three sections of pure white Italian marble, resting on a massive base of Quincy granite and surmounted by an officer's hat, feather, sword, belt and sash, cut in marble and requiring six months' labor in its execution. The front of this sarcophagus is inscribed as follows: "Lieutenant Colonel Henry Hamilton Wilson, born in Natick, November 11, 1846, died in Austin, Texas, December 24, 1866." A short distance behind, and north of this, is a small sarcophagus at the head of the Colonel's grave, which is simply inscribed "Hamilton." At the right, and just east of the Colonel's grave, is that of his mother, which is marked by an Italian marble headstone of attractive and appropriate design, and inscribed as follows: "Harriett M. Howe, born in Natick, November 21, 1824, married to Henry Wilson, November 28, 1840, died May 28, 1870." Below this is inscribed, "She made home happy," which is followed by, "But O for the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is still." At the extreme northeastern corner of the lot is a double grave marked by a double or twin headstone of beautiful design and of the same material as those mentioned above. This marks the last resting place of Mr. Wilson's father and mother, the one on the right being inscribed: "Winthrop Colbath, born April 7, 1787, died February 10, 1860," while the one on the left bears the following inscription: "Abigail Colbath, born March 2, 1785, died August 8, 1866." Between the graves of his parents and that of his wife is a vacant space, and that is the spot where is to be deposited the remains of the Vice President, of whom his townsmen relate a touching tribute which he paid to the partner of his joys and sorrows. It is said that when news of his nomination for the Vice Presidency was telegraphed him by his townsmen, he replied, "Place a bouquet of flowers on my wife's grave."

Meeting of Citizens in Boston To-day.

Mayor Cobb will preside, and addresses will be made by Governor Gaston, Chas. Francis Adams, E. R. Hoar, N. P. Banks, Chas. Levi Woodbury and Rev. E. E. Hale.

At Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, November 27.—The remains of the Vice President reached this city at 10:25 last night. At 12 o'clock the upper half of the lid of the casket was removed. From that hour up to 2 o'clock this morning the public was admitted to view the remains.

LATEST FOREIGN ADVICES.

England Buying the Suez Canal.

A Move to Indict Count von Arnim for Treason.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Suez Canal.

LONDON, November 26—5:30 A. M.—The Times says it has reason to believe that the British Government has bought from the Khedive of Egypt £4,000,000 worth of shares of the Suez Canal Company, and that the Egyptian Government is authorized to draw on Rothschilds at sight for the amount. This announcement is the substance of a telegram received by the Bank of Egypt from its Alexandria branch. The Times adds that the Khedive made an offer and the British Government accepted it, subject to the approval of Parliament. The Khedive's holding, which is thus sold, consists of 177,000 out of 400,000 shares, into which the capital stock of the company is divided.

LONDON, November 26.—The Times, in its financial article to-day, says: In relation to the purchase by Great Britain of 117,000 shares of the Suez Canal Company, a breathing time most essential to Egypt is secured. The value of the purchase to England is great, and probably will be taken en by the public to mean more than it does. By buying up the rest of the shares and paying two loans raised by the Company, amounting to £4,800,000, England would be possessed of the entire property. The advantage materially is a secondary question. The purchase was made for political reasons, therefore the importance of the step is hardly to be over-rated. For a considerable time it cannot be pecuniarily profitable, unless England also redeems the nineteen years' coupons which the Khedive heretofore sold,

The Times, in a leading article on the subject, has the following: There is an audacity about it which we do not generally associate with acts of the British Ministry. We seem to trace in the business the hand of Mr. Disraeli. The nation wakes this morning to find that it has acquired a heavy stake in the security and well-being of another distant land, and that it will be held by all the world to have entered upon a new phase of the Eastern policy. We have no desire for an extension of territory. We don't covet the land of the Nile. Since the firman of 1873, which gave the Khedive the right of treating independently with foreign States, the Egyptian Government has little cause of complaint, and may fulfill her duties untrammeled by Stamboul. In this settlement we desire to make no change, but should insurrection or intrigue, aggression from without or corruption within, bring a political as well as a financial collapse to the Turkish Empire, it might become necessary to take measures for the security of that part of the domain of the Sultan with which we are most nearly concerned. An acquisition of so commanding an interest as the Suez, an interest which must inevitably tend to increase, will lead the Government and people of the country to concern themselves habitually with Egypt.

THE LATEST NEWS.

Condensed Telegrams from All Quarters.

—A number of persons have been arrested for selling whisky at the Indian agencies.

—A dispatch from Virginia City says the new Ophir works began hoisting on Thursday from the thirteen hundred foot level. In a few days the work on the lower levels will be going on as usual.

—The schooner Sunshine, from San Francisco, for Coos Bay, ashore bottom up at the mouth of the Columbia, is reported to have had thirty passengers, besides a crew of ten. All are supposed to be lost.

—Ex-Alderman Clement, of Toronto, Can., has been arrested, charged with complicity in the murder of Miss Gilmore, for causing whose death Dr. Davis and wife have been sentenced to be hanged.

—Capt. Pollock's command has evacuated the Black Hills, and arrived at Fort Laramie, to go into quarters. Hundreds of miners were met going into the Black Hills, which are now unoccupied by military.

—It is stated in Boston that leading creditors of Lee & Shepard, on Friday, unanimously accepted the proposition of the firm to pay twenty-five cents on the dollar, in eight installments, at intervals of three months.

—A collision occurred last Tuesday night in the Straits of Mackinaw between the schooners Groton and Lucy J. Parker, resulting in serious damage to both vessels. The Groton was run ashore to prevent her sinking.

—John Kornman, living near Lawrenceburg, Indiana, whose wife had sued for a divorce, visited her last Thursday night, quarreled with her, burned her barn and contents, fired at her with a revolver, doing no injury, and then shot himself three times in the head. He will probably recover.

—Benjamin F. Gertz, of Boston, and Charles Knight and wife, of Waltham, went on board the Pacific at Tacoma. A correspondent of the Portland Oregonian from Tacoma says when Captain Howell, of the Pacific, went on board there he was so intoxicated that he had to be led on board. He says fifty people were witnesses of his condition.

—Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the New York bankers who marketed the 7 3-10 bonds of Cincinnati, have issued a circular to the holders of such bonds, calling their attention to the recent decision of the Supreme Court of Ohio, which should, in their opinion, remove all doubts that these bonds are as valuable in every respect as other issues of that city.

THE PRESIDENCY.

Chief Justice Waite Declines to Become a Candidate—His Reasons Therefor.

TOLEDO, O., November 26.—The Commercial of to-morrow morning will contain an article on Chief Justice Waite and the Presidency, embracing an extract from a private letter from that gentleman in answer to one from a friend urging his assent to a movement in his behalf in that connection. The Judge positively refuses such assent, giving reasons therefor. He says: "Of course I am always gratified to my friends for any effort in my behalf, and no one ever had those more faithful or indulgent, but do you think it quite right for one occupying the first judicial position in the land to permit the use of his name for political position? The office came to me covered with honor, and when I accepted it my chief duty was not to make of it a stepping stone to something else, but to preserve its purity, and, if possible, make my name as honorable as that of my predecessors. No man ought to accept this place unless he shall take a vow to leave it as honorable as he found it. There ought never to be any necessity for rebuilding from below. All additions should be above. In my judgment the Constitution might wisely have prohibited the election of a Chief Justice to the Presidency. Entertaining such a view, could I properly or consistently permit my name to be used for the promotion of a political combination as now suggested? If I should do so, could I at all times and in all cases remain an unbiased Judge in the estimation of the people?"

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, November 26, 1875.

Banks in Trouble.

The Manufacturers' and Builders' Bank, at Third avenue and Fifty-seventh street, suspended this morning.

The Central Park Savings Bank, a comparatively small institution, is to be wound up by the State Superintendent at the request of its President.

There was a run on the People's Savings Bank, Third avenue, this morning, and the officers closed the doors, taking advantage of the sixty days' notice, as this bank was affected with others by the run on the Third Avenue Savings Bank a short time ago.

There was also a slight run to-day on the Security Savings Bank.

Duties on Foreign Products in Canada.

TORONTO, November 26.—A meeting of the Manufacturers' Association is being held, at which resolutions are under discussion recommending the imposition of duties on the products of foreign countries equal to the duties imposed by such foreign countries on similar Canadian productions, but never less than on British goods.

THANKSGIVING.

How the Day was Observed.

Thanksgiving, though very generally observed, passed off in a very quiet manner. Business was almost entirely suspended, but there was very little public demonstration, indicative of a holiday. The weather was clear and bracing, and favorable for out-door promenading. The streets accordingly in the afternoon especially were crowded with people who seemed to have no definite object in view except to see and be seen. The military display was hardly up to the usual standard in point of numbers but otherwise it was good.

In this city, Companies A, B, C, D, E, and G, Eighteenth regiment, turned out to the number of 150 under Colonel Guthrie and staff, comprising Adjutant John Cowley, Paymaster Captain John M. Osborne and Quartermaster J. Scott Ward. They were preceded by their full band, numbering thirty pieces under Professor Arbogast. They paraded the principal streets.

In Allegheny Captain W. W. Tyson's company, the Allegheny Guards, turned out some sixty men, under the Captain and Lieutenants Archibald and Brothers. They were preceded by Staley's Band. Their fine marching elicted many compliments.

The churches in the morning were generally pretty well attended, but the places of amusement in the afternoon and evening monopolized the largest share of attention.

Every seat, in the Opera House and the Academy of Music was taken in the afternoon and evening. At the former place the receipts for the day aggregated over $2,500. The other places of amusement did in proportion, as well. It was a grand "show day."

There were no street disturbances during the day. Altogether it was one of the greatest holidays ever opened in the city.

Daring Bank Robbery.

From accounts already published, we learn the safe recently opened with wedges at Munroe, Michigan, was without the modern appliance of the dovetail principle, used only by the Hall Safe and Lock Co., and from experiments recently made in our city it is found that each and every dovetail withstands a tensile strain of seven to nine thousand pounds, and this multiplied by the number of them gives a result that proves this patent absolutely wedge proof. One of these safes will be on exhibition until twelve o'clock to-day at 93 Smithfield street, at which time it will be sent to a bank in the vicinity of our own city.

We also learn a chronometric attachment (made by the Howard Watch Co.) will be adjusted to this safe, as well as to most of the bank safes recently sold by this company.

Every Man to His Trade.

The reason why builders, contractors and others prefer to purchase their stained, ornamental and embossed glass of William Nelson, No. 23 Market street, is because he has made the subject a study and brought it to a degree of perfection attained by no other. His designs are new and artistic, his material the best, and workmanship unurpassed.

Delay No Longer.

Delays are sometimes dangerous, and he who longer delays in securing himself a good overcoat is in danger. Let him go instanter to B. Tiegel, No. 53 Smithfield street, and have made to measure, in Tiegel's best style, one of his overcoats of super-excellent material, at figures astonishingly low.

ON Thursday a lunatic named Hele, at the county hospital at Gettysburg, Pa., killed a woman named Beatty, who went into the room to clean it. He choked her until insensible, and then drove the small end of a broomstick into her brain.

AN "ASSEMBLY."

The Elite of the City at Library Hall on Thanksgiving Eve—A Social Gathering Distinguished by the Presence of Beauty, Grace, Wealth and Fashion.

"There was a sound of revelry by night,
And Keystone's Iron City had gathered there,
Her beauty and her chivalry; and bright
The lamps shone o'er fair woman and brave men.
Three hundred hearts beat happily, and when
Music arose with its voluminous swell
Soft eyes looked love to eyes which spake again,
And all went merry as a marriage bell."

The first of a series of three balls, or soirees terpsichore, which are to surpass in elegance and splendor anything of a social character that ever distinguished this city, was given on Thanksgiving eve, in Library Hall. It had been gotten up very quietly indeed, although the arrangements for it had been progressing for three months past, and it passed off with such smoothness and absence of external display or unnecessary talk that it did not create a ripple of excitement or interest outside of the class of people to which it was confined. Indeed but very little was known of it except among those who were honored with "your presence is requested," &c. The affair was decidedly recherche as well as delightful and costly. The times may be hard, but tickets were thirty dollars apiece. The old floor used during the Centennial tea parties was replaced over the orchestra, and afforded ample room for the exhilarating Terpsichorean exercises which, together with the supper, were the chief features of the evening. The aisles were prettily decorated, and everything that ingenuity could devise, a cultivated taste prompt or money purchase was furnished in order that the enjoyment afforded the senses might not be lacking in any respect. About one hundred and twenty-five couples were present, of which seventy-one came in carriages. Every precaution was taken to avoid confusion. As each carriage drove up the driver was furnished with a check containg a number, and the gentleman occupying the vehicle given another check bearing a like number. When he desired to leave he handed his check to an officer who went out and had his carriage ready at the door for him by the time he and his lady had their wrappings on. Upon the tickets of invitation the gathering was denominated as an "Assembly." The "Committee" and "Patronesses" embraced some of the leading, best known, wealthiest and most influential ladies and gentlemen of the city. The display of toilettes by the feminine representatives of society exceeded in richness, costliness and elegance any social entertainment ever given in Pittsburgh. The dresses of both ladies and gentlemen were gotten up in the highest style of Parisian art, and to the glittering of gas jets, and the brightness of eyes beaming with pleasure, was added the brilliant lustre of diamonds glistening with a thousand varied and prismatic hues at snow white throats, and upon taper fingers and spotless linen. At midnight supper was served in the Art Gallery. It was prepared by the caterer of the Duquesne Club—an organization which has its headquarters on Penn street, near Ninth, and which was once honored with a visit from the crusaders—and comprised all the delicacies and condiments, both light and substantial, that could please the palate or satisfy the appetite. At a fashionable hour the Assembly parted. Two more are yet to be held, and they will doubtless be the equal of this in every respect, if not its superior. An initial enterprise of the nature of this one is seldom so successful as those which succeed it, provided, of course, that all are in the same hands and it is understood that the gentlemen of the Duquesne Club are the chief spirits in these exquisite and charming social gatherings.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 114½.

THE New York Times has been mainly engaged in exposing rogues of various sorts, and rumors are current of a criminal indictment being under manipulation against its editor, the object being to hurry him to jail. A swift exposure of the plan is made, and it will probably fall harmless. But New York is the spot for bold operations.

SENATOR FERRY, now Vice President, is said to be a strong tariff man, and as such, is now in a position to render great service to the cause, if occasion should require. The power of the President of the Senate is not so great as that of the Speaker of the House. The Senate constitutes its own committees, and thus controls its own affairs. Yet the influence of the Vice President will be very potential.

THERE is evidently a very unsettled state of affairs in the manufacturing districts of Canada. The working force in iron establishments is being reduced, and failures are anticipated. Strangely, as soon as financial trouble stares them in the face, the Canadian ironmongers think of a tariff as a remedy. Yet their friends in Canada would teach us that free trade is the great panacea for all financial ills.

THERE is a band of Cuban "patriots" hanging around New York who have done more to render the cause of Cuba odious in this country than all they can ever do in the better direction will repair. Speculation, idleness, extravagance, bad habits and a vicious temper are their especial peculiarities, and these do not particularly ornament a patriot cause, anywhere. A trifle more, both of principle and dignity, among the adherents of the cause in this country, would benefit Cuba amazingly.

THE movement looking to the formation of an Industrial School in this city is taking shape rapidly and in a very excellent manner. The gentlemen named as committees are active, enterprising gentlemen, who have hitherto shown much interest in the subject. With proper concert of action they will do much toward developing a system of public Industrial Schools which will prove of lasting benefit, not only to this community, but the entire State as well.

THE movement of Councils, looking to the retrenchment of expenditures, on the part of the city government, will command the approval of all right-thinking persons. Energy and care should be exercised,—the one to ascertain the proper instances for reduction, and the other that no person be reduced in salary, who should not be. We certainly must carry the spirit of retrenchment, which obtains in everything else, in our city government. Judicious, careful sifting of salaries should not be objected to, and will not be by those who wish well to the people, who pay the sums assessed upon them.

THANKSGIVING seems to have passed off pleasantly, with few disturbing incidents and many happy, agreeable memories. It was observed that in this city it was more than usually a day of visitation. Whether the times had anything to do with this, we cannot say, but it was certainly true, that the gathering up of friendly parties was far more general than in many previous years. The bright, beautiful character of the day may have done something to promote a kindly interchange of visits, but this aside, and there still remains the fact that previous arrangements were doubtless made, which did much to promote the social observance of the day.

THE funeral services over the remains of Vice President Wilson took place yesterday in the Senate Chamber. Prayers and a sermon constituted the religious exercises proper. A very large audience was present,—the President, Cabinet, Justices of the Supreme Court, diplomatic corps, and others being present. Every possible attention and respect were shown the remains of the deceased, and the funeral cortege will doubtless be met with every attention, as it passes through the great cities, on its way to its final resting place. In Philadelphia the body will lie in state in Independence Hall. In Boston, imposing funeral ceremonies will be observed, and then the dead statesman will be quietly laid to rest, near his home in Natick.

THE attempt to create the impression that England and this country must go to war over the fishery question does not go for much. Neither nation has any disposition to go to war over trifles, and there would be a vast deal of diplomacy tried before either would even talk of fighting or think of fighting over these petty privileges of fishing. Moreover, our Government seems thus far to be wrong in this matter, if there is any wrong about it. A solemn agreement has been entered into to refer the question to a commission, and we haven't even appointed our commissioner. It doesn't matter what exorbitant claims may be presented, we are concerned with the decision of the commissioners and not with the claims of the Canadians, and we have no right to assume beforehand that a commission appointed in a way that we have agreed to will not, after receiving evidence and hearing arguments, make a fair and just award. It is to be supposed that they would, but even if they were to fail to do so, it would be time enough then to remonstrate and get up a rumpus, if it appeared to be worth while.

THE discussion of the probabilities of GRANT'S nomination grows more earnest and careful. The Boston Globe, while opposed to it, admits the growth of influence favorable to such a course. "The talk of a nomination of President GRANT for a third term is assuming a far more serious tone than it has ever before had. The agitation of the last two years, whether founded on common sense or not, has familiarized the people with the subject, and the first shock of repugnance at the idea appears to have passed away." It calls on the party to rise above mere manipulators, and favor, irrespective of these, some good man. It then touches the chances of election: "What the Republican party needs is that degree of wisdom in its counsels that shall overrule these men who assume to have the keeping of its destinies, and take the choice of a candidate out of their hands and place it beyond their control. It needs to rise to meet the demands of the time and of the people, and place on a wise and honest platform a candidate whose character and qualifications will be an assurance that he will do his utmost to reform our national policy in finance, in the unification of the country, and in the administration of civil affairs. Let the party do this and its future is secure for years to come. Let it fail to do this by the nomination of GRANT for a third term, and the prospect becomes extremely dubious." As we predicted would prove the case, the chances of his election, in the event of being nominated, are being treated far more respectfully than they were awhile since.

WE HAVE no desire to multiply proofs of the point we made, that the Grey Nun legislation proves that a league exists between the Catholic Church and the Democratic party to sectarianize our public schools. The New York Evening Post, a calm, careful, impartial paper, says of that law: "The feeling which has been manifested in regard to this matter is only another evidence of the determination of the people that the public schools shall not be interfered with in any way in the interest of any religious sect, and the existence of such a feeling, in conjunction with the practical results which have followed its manifestation in New Jersey and Ohio, is the best evidence there is no danger that any open attempt at such an interference can be successful. For the position which they occupy Roman Catholic priests have only themselves to blame. All their rights and reasonable privileges will be guaranteed to them. But when they use their pulpits to defeat beneficial legislation, as they did in New Jersey, and allow their Church journals to denounce Roman Catholic laymen who recognize their duties as citizens, as the Freeman's Journal has denounced Senator KERNAN for his sympathy with non-sectarian public schools, they must be ready to accept the censure which is sure to follow." It declares that the Gray Nun law must be repealed, when the Legislature again meets.

EUROPEAN POLITICS.

AT least four of the great powers of Europe, France, Germany, Russia and England are, just now, closely watching each other, besides having enough to do to care for internal difficulties, peculiar to their home government. Turkey hardly ranks as a great power, and her financial difficulties have greatly lessened her influence among the other powers. We have, recently dwelt upon the complications, as between each of the governments above mentioned, and will now refer more to the home troubles which afflict them. France is, just now, engaged in determining the scope and character of the electoral bill,—a subject of far more influence in determining the future of the government, than is imagined by the generality of readers. The government has steadily beaten the Republicans in the contest over the electoral bill. The first issue,—that of voting by arrondisements, or generally,—was decided against THIERS and GAMBETTA, who had joined in the leadership of the Republicans, by a small majority. In this, we think they deserved defeat. They advocated the false principle of a general ticket, and its election by a majority of the entire country,—a plan which would have given the minority no representation whatever. But in the last struggle, our sympathies are with them. They favored a secret ballot, while the MACMAHON Government favored an open ballot. They were defeated, and the Government is triumph. The result will be, the triumphant of the Government in the forthcoming elections. We can have no adequate idea, in this country, of the control wielded by the ruling power in France over the people, where it has the opportunity to directly reach them. An open ballot affords just this opportunity. The votes of all are not only registered, but the exact character of the vote is also recorded. And as the Government has great power over the liberty of the people, the record of votes is a standing menace to the people against voting in opposition to its interests.

The contest now in progress in the Assembly is preliminary to the severer contest at the polls. Thus far the Government has been triumphant, and it has only to use its power carefully to be entirely successful at the polls. What this will involve, none who are not in the secrets of the MACMAHON Government, can tell. It may mean simply the continuance of MACMAHON to the close of his term, although the suspicion exists that he means, sooner or later, to restore the NAPOLEON dynasty to the throne. The suspicions existing, and the necessity for a very severe struggle to retain power, will cause a heated canvass, and a severely contested election. With a people so volatile and inflammatory as are the French, the effect might be very serious. Once let the idea obtain that the Government is depriving them of their rights, and the consequences cannot be predicted. Possibly revolution, violence, bloodshed, and even the overthrow of the Government may ensue.

England is greatly exercised, just at the present, over the situation in India. There is, undoubtedly, a deep feeling of dissatisfaction among the natives of India at the assumptions of the English. The trial and removal of the ruling Prince of Baroda, and the severe and autocratic spirit shown toward the independent native princes, have served to create a general feeling of hostility on the part of the people. Add to this the famines, which the Government did little to alleviate, and was tardy in doing what it did, and we have some of the causes of discontent. The reception accorded the Prince of Wales significantly illustrated the prevailing feeling. The most disagreeable consideration connected with this is the semi-hostile attitude maintained by Russia. In the face of remonstrances and treaties, Russia has pushed forward her victories, till she controls Central Asia, and is within easy marching distance of British India. An outbreak against the English, on the part of the natives, would be sure to cause some movement on her part—either toward Turkey or India. Just here, many rumors are prevailing. It is stated that Russia has offered to permit England to control the Suez canal, and even Egypt, if she will, if England will permit her to carry out her designs against Turkey. Refusing to do this, and the Russian army on the border of India stands ready for active service—while Turkey is a source of direct alarm to England. Her finances have broken down, a sure presage, usually, to the rapid decay of the Governmental power itself.

Russia, in the meantime is strengthening her cash account, and preparing for any contingencies that may arise. But her movements are held in check by another power, too strong to be overlooked, and which, to-day, wields more real power in Europe, than any other nation can. Germany has reasons, very similar to those which governed NAPOLEON, for refusing to permit Russia to obtain control of Constantinople. It would make her the great power of the earth, and would not only dwarf and belittle the power which Germany now wields, but be a threat against her. Russia has, these many years, followed a policy of absorption, and there are no good reasons for believing that she would abandon this policy, were she to gain possession of Constantinople. BISMARCK is entirely too shrewd to permit such a danger to approach him. Thus Russia will be probably thwarted by a power she will be slow to take up arms against. In the meantime the Ultramontane war rages in Germany, and is a source of disquietude to the Government. The later intelligence is to the effect that victories have been gained by BISMARCK, yet still the struggle goes on. Thus there are disturbing influences at work within the several Governments, that cause disquietude, and that have in them the possibility of a general European war.

Mineral Resources of Colorado.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

GENTLEMEN, Having spent about five months in Colorado—from May till October—and having had fine opportunities for gathering reliable information, I think I am prepared to give some facts, both general and particular, on the subject of the mineral resources of that country that will be of interest to the world.

As a mining region Colorado differs greatly from California. In the latter many millions of gold were washed out from drifts of sand and mud, requiring no appliances other than picks, showels, pans, rockers, sluices, and the hard muscular toil of the men who rushed in and turned the auriferous valleys upside down in their eager search, and finally exhausted the mines, so that the quantity now taken out is greatly reduced. In Colorado there are comparatively few mines of that kind. There were some which yielded largely; but they have mostly been washed out. There are still a few which are paying fair wages to those who are operating them; but placer mining is rarely spoken of in Colorado.

In no part of the great Rocky Mountain range is the surface of the earth lifted so high, or so broken up into innumerable peaks, with intervening valleys, gorges and canyons, as in Colorado. Tremendous forces of internal fires heaved these mountains up, while floods of water in the earlier geologic periods, seem to have torn them into fragments, cutting channels hundreds and even thousands of feet deep through solid rock—solid, yet upheaved, and thrown into every angle, from horizontal to perpendicular. Hard and almost impracticable granite preponderates, in some places pure, in others metamorphic, and in others mingled with porphyry and quartz and all manner of combinations and colors.

In an early day in the far-gone geological periods this upheaved crust was riven into innumerable fragments, probably by contraction in cooling, causing fissures or crevices, of great length and of various widths, from a few inches to a hundred feet; but most generally from two to eight or ten feet. These rifts are generally vertical, or nearly so, and doubtless extend down to the molten interior. The walls of these crevices are smooth and regular. Up through these rifts, or fissures, or crevices—for they are known by all these terms—ores of metals, mingled more or less with gangue rock, have been driven, while in a molten state, by internal forces, combined, doubtless, with the tremendous downward pressure of the shattered crust. Some are filled almost entirely with gangue rock, with thin streaks of ore—"pay ore." In some this is gold-bearing quartz; in others silver ore; in others both commingled. In many lodes silver in combination with galena is found; in others a silver ore—and one of the best—called "gray copper." Some crevices, especially in the southwest part of the territory, are filled from wall to wall with good silver ore, some very rich. A few very wide fissures are filled with rich galena mingled with a little silver. There are a few of these lodes filled with copper ore, but they are not numerous.

In Colorado there are far more mines of silver than of any other metal. In some districts rich mines of gold exist, especially in Boulder county, northwest of Denver, and in the Summit district, about thirty miles south of Del Norte. In the San Juan country, in the southwestern portion of the territory, and west of the continental water-shed, silver most abounds, but there is also much gold. In the last named district, which is by far the most extensive in area of any other, the silver mines are more numerous and richer than in any other mineral district in Colorado, or probably in the world. The discovered lodes are numbered by thousands, and every week adds to their number. The ores yield from $50 to $3,000 per ton, and many of the crevices are full of "pay ore" from wall to wall.

The richest portions of this wonderful district are drained by the Animas, a branch of the San Juan, and by the Uncompahgre, a branch of the Gunnison, and by the Lake Fork of the Gunnison. Each of these streams gives its name to a sub-district, and the people of each claim that theirs is the best. But they are really but sub-divisions of one great district, which is not confined to the drainage of these three streams.

That country is difficult of access from any existing centre of commerce or great line of travel. It all lies west of the water shed of the continent, and drains into the Pacific through the Colorado. There the Rocky Mountains reach their greatest width, altitude and ruggedness; and I may as well remark here as anywhere else that the district of which I am speaking is easier of access from the Pacific than from the Atlantic side of the continent, and that if the people of the Eastern States are not prompt and energetic in their movements those on the Pacific shore will go in and turn the trade of that region of uncalculated wealth to their side.

But the very heart of the San Juan country can be reached by rail from this side. Having few personal cares to trouble me, I gave a good deal of attention to this interesting and important question—a more difficult one than would at first be supposed. A man in the East might look at the map and say "Go in by the valley of the Arkansas, or that of the Platte." But neither of those rivers affords a practicable route; for the canyons through which they issue from the mountain region are so close, and have walls so precipitous, that no road whatever, not even a foot-path, can be made through them. From Cheyenne, on the Union Pacific road, to the Sangre de Cristo pass, sixty miles south of the Arkansas, there are very few places where it is possible to penetrate the eastern range. The road up Clear Creek, west of Denver, runs as far as Georgetown and Central City, and was as bold and difficult an enterprise as was ever undertaken. But that road cannot be carried any farther. From Canyon City, at the foot of the great canyon of the Arkansas, a road could be made through the gorge of a tributary, into the South Park, and thence across the Arkansas far up in the mountains; but I do not think it will ever be done. The Denver & Rio Grand Railway will be carried over the eastern range through Abeyta Pass, near that of Sangre de Cristo, into San Louis valley and to the Rio Grande; but the valley of that river can never become a route to the San Juan country owing to difficulties in surmounting the watershed west of its sources.

There is one other gateway, and that is through the Ute Pass, directly west of Colorado Springs. That a railway can be made through that pass has, I am assured, been ascertained by actual survey; and once through that, the South Park is reached. Then the route is through a level plain for about forty miles. The ridge dividing the park from the Valley of the Arkansas, far up in the mountains, is then reached, and can be crossed without difficulty. The Arkansas is then crossed, and up the Valley of the Cottonwood, which enters the Arkansas from the west, a good route to the watershed and across it is obtained. This leads to the head waters of the Gunnison, and thence to the heart of the San Juan country there is no further difficulty. Several months ago, while I was in Colorado, the work of making a good wagon road through the valley of the Cottonwood was commenced, and by this time it is probably finished.

In that vast congeries of mountains there are many beautiful little valleys, richly clothed in grass, so that the business of rearing cattle is largely prosecuted. Many little towns are springing up, and in a few years we may expect a large population to have their homes up there. Then the working of these mines, and reducing their ores to bullion, will become as legitimate a business as the growing of cereals or the manufacture of iron or textile fabrics. It will not be, as it was in California, a wild scramble for drifted gold; but a business requiring a high degree of science, skill and solid capital for its prosecution.

Very respectfully, JOSIAH COPLEY.

TRAMP BURNED TO DEATH.

Compassion to a Wanderer Results in the Burning of a Barn, Valuable Crops and the Sleeping Tramp.

We have advices from Delaware, Water Gap, Pa., of November 25th, to the effect that a tramp who has for some time been in this section of the State, but whose name is unknown, and whose identity it will now be impossible to establish, called yesterday evening at the farm residence of Mr. William Garrison, who lives near this place, and requested to be allowed to sleep in his barn. The man was given some food and the request granted. Shortly after retiring to bed Mr. Garrison was awakened by a bright light, and on looking out of his bedroom window discovered his barn was on fire. He immediately thought of the tramp and hastened to the burning building to save him if possible, but it was too late. The flames had made such headway that no human being could get near it. Some of the neighbors came to the assistance of Mr. Garrison, but nothing could be saved. Mr. Garrison's loss is his entire crop of oats and wheat, three valuable cows, a valuable horse, a buggy, and a large lot of farming utensils. The charred remains of the unfortunate tramp were found in the ruins this morning and taken charge of by the authorities. It is supposed he attempted to smoke in the barn, and, falling asleep, the fire from his pipe set fire to the barn.

THE oldest charger in the British army is a high caste Arab, belonging to Col. Kent of the Seventy-seventh regiment. The animal has seen service in nearly every portion of the British Empire, passed through the Crimean war with honor, and was exhibited at the Alexandra palace on the occasion of the late Balaklava banquet. His age is about twenty-five years.

MMES. NILSSON and Lucca have both been unfortunate during recent travels. The former was in a train that ran down an embankment near Plymouth, England, and the latter was thrown into the lake of Zurich, Switzerland, by a pair of runaway horses. Frightened, but not hurt.

THE report that Miss Charlotte Cushman was improving in health, and that she was to appear soon in public readings, proves, unhappily, to have been untrue. Miss Cushman's agent writes to a gentleman in New Haven that she is seriously ill, and has abandoned all hope of reading this season. She hopes to be able to appear in public six months from now.

IT WAS at first intended that the friends of Mr. Geo. Belmore should pay the expenses of his funeral in New York, but a letter was received from Fred Vokes, of the Vokes family, inclosing a check for $1,160, saying that the troupe were unwilling that any but English actors should defray the expenses. Other parties in New York also subscribed enough to pay his funeral expenses.

IDA LEWIS, the marine heroine, is poor, and plays every Monday morning on a seven and a quarter octave washboard. With her bare elbows even with the key-board and a red flannel Beethoven before her, she renders that famous music with delicate expression and woolen poetry. She says to herself.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

IT is now said that Lemonte furnace is to go into blast on December 1st.

IN Glasgow, Scotland, 500 unemployed handloom weavers are engaged sweeping the streets.

THE extensive strike among the knitting mill operatives at Amsterdam, N. Y., has ended, they having submitted to reduced wages.

THE shipments of iron ore from Lake Superior up to November 17 reached 774,866 gross tons, against 789,627 tons to same date last year.

THE new furnace Alice, of the Etna Iron Works, at Ironton, is now making from fifty to sixty tons of iron per day, and working satisfactorily.

THE Buckeye Engine Company, Salem, have recently discharged twenty hands, and both the agricultural implement works in that town have been abandoned.

THE Charlotte furnace, of Scottdale, Westmoreland county, was blown out on the 18th, after a very successful run of twenty-five months. Blast will be resumed in about two months.

A PARTIAL revival of activity in the mills and manufactories in the Schuylkill and Lehigh Valley, and a better appearance of the labor outlook generally, is good news for the approach of the winter season.

THE proprietors of the Milton Nail Works, in Northumberland county, Pa., are now running the rolling mill connected with their establishment, getting out iron to be used in the manufacture of nail plates. Their machinery all works well.

THE miners and coke drawers at Wheeler, on the Connellsville Railroad, who stood against the reduction of wages, resumed work some days ago, at the reduced figures, viz.: Twenty-eight cents per car for mining and sixty-five cents per car for drawing.

THE Chemical Copper Company of Phoenixville, are about enlarging their works by the addition of a large building, in which will be erected a number of muffled furnaces, for reducing ores of a different quality than those now being reduced at their works. A large increase of production is expected. The Schuylkill Copper Works, adjoining the above, is in successful operation, and is turning out copper in larger quantities than ever before.

ISABELLA furnace No. 2 (20x75 ft.) made 741 1090-2440 tons of iron in the week ending November 13, and last week 770,660-2240 tons—a total in the two weeks of 1511 1750-2240 tons. The largest day's run was 116 1260-2440. The tons at the Isabella are of 2240 lb., because the pigs are cast in iron moulds. The last week's run—770 660-2240 tons—is the largest we have ever heard of. The nearest approach to it that we are aware of was by a 23 foot Belgian furnace, which uses the Whitwell hot-blast and a self-fluxing ore, the highest yield of this furnace being 770 tons.—American Manufacturer.

THE State census of South Carolina shows a total population of 923,447, an increase since the taking of the United States census of 1870 of 217,841, which indicates gross error in one enumeration or the other. ROUGH ON COX.

Will "Sammy" Achieve the Position of Speaker?—A Pen-Picture of the Humorous Candidate.

LITTLE "SAMMY."

That one expression settles him. Who ever heard of any man whom his friends called "Sammy" ever achieving position? Cox is a man a little over five feet in height. He has not a particle of dignity about him, and, unless in leading strings, is always doing something foolish. He reads everything, however, and, having a parrot-like memory, secures a reputation for being a well-read man that he does not deserve. Butler never said a truer word about Cox than when he said that he was debauched by too much literature. Cox has been in Congress for seventeen years, and during that time has never done anything but wear the cap and bells. He would sacrifice any measure at any time for the sake of creating a laugh. He was never more cut up over anything than he was over Blaine's ordering "laughter" and "applause" to be cut out of the official reports of the House. If he were made Speaker, the first order he would make would be to have them restored. He received money some years ago, and therefore has some influence; he furnishes cash for the New York political organizations, and, in return, they run him into Congress from some district in the city where he is least known. He was defeated for a seat in the Forty-third Congress, but poor Mellish dying in another district, he was enabled to take this dead man's shoes, and again dance his humorous dance among his cynical associates. People who have lived here, and really know Congress, are the only ones who can fully appreciate Sam Cox. Ask any old member of Congress about Sam Cox's chances and he will smile at you. Several times his Democratic friends have tried to stimulate his vanity with some empty honor, but he has always acted in a manner so frivolous that all men of sense have long ago long patience with him. He is a smart little fellow for a sting, wasp-like speech of five minutes or so, but give Sam Cox a task that requires brains, and he will bulge above his eyes for hours, in the vain attempt to comprehend what is wanted of him. Make him Speaker, and he will be in the insane asylum inside of a month. At the time of the Democratic caucus upon the organization of the House in the Forty-third Congress, Sammy was told that the Democrats were going to give him the complimentary nomination for the Speakership. Upon this he became so hilarious, to put it mildly in these days of libel suits, that his friends became utterly disgusted with him, and gave all their votes to Wood, who ultimately received the nomination.—Chicago Times.

William B. Astor.

John Jacob Astor, born in Heidelberg, Germany, in 1763, removed to London in 1779, to Baltimore in 1783, and soon commenced the fur trade in and from New York, and founded Astoria in 1811. At his death, in 1848, his property was estimated at $20,000,000 and the bulk was bequeathed to his son William, who was born in New York in 1791; educated at Heidelsberg; trained in business by his father and given a pretty competence by an uncle before the father's death. William administered his father's estate and made some addition to the endowment of Astor Library. He devoted himself closely to keeping what was given him and getting more; and living simply and reinvesting his income, principally in real estate, managed to add materially to his possessions. He married a daughter of General Armstrong, Madison's Secretary of War, by whom he leaves five children. William had his father's taste for accumulation, but wanted his originality and energy. He attended to business as strictly as though every thing depended upon his own efforts, and trained his sons to follow in his steps. But Vanderbilt and others are reported to have made more unaided, than Mr. Astor had as the result of his own and his father's exertions. The Astor property is chiefly in real estate, and is valued at probably $100,000,000.

Douglas and Tucker.

Stephen A. Douglas at one time thought himself near enough to the Presidency to promise his friends offices. A correspondent of the Chicago Times gives an account of a dinner where there was a generous distribution of this kind. When the list had been nearly exhausted Mr. Douglas noticed that one of the guests, Beverly Tucker by name, had not asked for an office. Turning to him he requested him to state what position he desired. The man replied he had no wish for office, but only a request to make, which he disclosed as follows: "It is simple. I have a Christian name. My mother baptized me Beverly. Some call me 'Bev.' Now, when you are elected President, I want you upon every occasion when we meet in public to say: 'Hello, Bev, is that you? How are you, old fellow?' I want you to slap me on the shoulder, and talk with me confidentially. If you will always treat me like that when we meet, I will ask no more."

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, November 27, 1875.

The dull weather of yesterday exerted a very marked influence on monetary and banking affairs, and the banks did very little new business. All was dull and quiet.

The speculators in the gold room, at New York, says the Journal of Commerce, "are now disposed to discount the call of the Secretary of the Treasury issued on September 1st for $8,000,000 5-20s for the sinking fund. These will have to be paid for in gold, and are independent of the $5,000,000 bonds called at the same time for the account of the Syndicate. These calls expire December 1. The settlement of the sinking fund bonds will release that amount of coin from the Treasury, and it is a matter of speculation how much of this will remain here. The exchanges are now in such a condition that a sharp demand for remittance in payment for bonds held abroad will probably send the rates to and above the gold shipping point, and thus partially neutralize the effect of the disbursement of coin from the Treasury."

The commercial demand for money has been to a very moderate extent, and, as several failures have taken place during the week, the supply of commercial bills is more likely to fall off than increase. In fact, the autumnal demand for money is becoming more restricted, and there seems to be but little doubt that the requirements of our commerce will be small for many months to come. The advices from most parts of the world are not of an encouraging nature, although from the United States somewhat better intelligence has been received this week. In nearly every department of business in this country, extreme caution prevails, and, as there have been several failures this week for sums varying from £50,000 to £100,000, merchants perceive no encouragement to extend their operations.—London Correspondent Financial Chronicle.

After having lost hundreds of millions of dollars in Turkish, Spanish, and South American loans, the sagacious British money-lender ought to learn the urgent moral that it is a poor investment to lend money to banditti and slaveholders.

The London Economist estimates the loss upon Turkish securities since last April at £28,000,000, equal to $190,000,000, and upon Egyptian at £10,000,000, equal to $50,000,000. The destinies of Egypt are bound up with those of Turkey, now both financially and politically imperiled. The following list of State debts presents a sad picture of European credulity, a large proportion of the amount being due there: Peru, £25,500,000; Argentine, £18,300,000; Bolivia, £1,700,000; Brazil, £23,500,000; Chili, £9,500,000; Costa Rica, £3,400,000; Paraguay, £3,000,000; Spanish, £161,000,000; Uruguay, £4,500,000; Venezuela, £5,500,000; total, £255,900,000. Adding to this $1,280,000,000 of bad debts, the $1,165,000,000 of Egyptian and Turkish bonds, we have the pleasing total of $2,445,000,000 as the price paid for forgetting that morals had something to do with pecuniary responsibility.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, November 26.—Trade is dull in all departments. Cotton goods are steady at current quotations, and brown sheetings and cotton flannels are firm. Plaid prints are in steady but moderate request. Dress goods moved slowly. Fancy cassimeres, worsted coatings and overcoatings are in fair demand. Satinets and jeans ruled quiet, and flannels moved slowly.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY Nov. 26, 1875.

The general market has been sluggish during the week, which may be attributed in part to the annual recurrence of Thanksgiving, and the inclement weather has had an unfavorable influence. In regard to values there have been no material changes within the past few day, but it is worthy of mention, in this connection, that shrinkage is the order of the day.

APPLES—The market continues dull, but with diminished receipts, there is a firmer feeling, without, however, any improvement in prices; sales, in a jobbing way, at $3a3,50 per bbl. for fair to prime, and $3,75a4 for choice.

APPLE BUTTER—70a75c per gallon.

BEANS—We have to report a continued dull market, and with the supply accumulating, and a stronger disposition to realize, prices are weak and drooping; prime navies offering to the trade at $1.48a1,50 per bush.

BUTTER—Dealers generally report trade as being slow and unsatisfactory, excepting for strictly prime, the supply of which is not much in excess of the demand; the great bulk of the receipts recently have been common to medium stock, and the stock of this kind is accumulating. Sales of prime to choice rolls at 25a28c; medium to good, 18a20c; common to fair 12a15c.

CHEESE—The market continues quiet and prices remain unchanged. Prime Ohio Factory, 13½a14 cents for August and 14a14½c for September make. New York Goshen, 15c.

DRIED FRUIT—The demand is increasing, and with a limited stock, the market is firmer, but as yet trade is light. Prime bright apples (quarters), 10a11c; sliced, 13½a14c. Peaches (halves), new, 13½a14c; peeled, 20a21c. Blackberries dull; 13a14c.

CRANBERRIES—$10a11 per bbl.

CIDER—Is quoted at 18a20c per gallon; no charge for packages.

EGGS—The market has been fairly active for some days, but with a supply fully up to the demand, prices have undergone no quotable change. Fresh, 28a29c; pickled, 23a26c.

FLOUR—The demand continues light, confined entirely to supplying immediate wants of the retail trade; no change in prices. Spring wheat flours $6,50a7,25, the outside figure for choice Minnesotas; new red winter wheat, $6,25a6,75, as to quality; old ditto, $7a7,25. Rye Flour, $5,25a5,50. Buckwheat Flour, 2½a3c per pound.

GROCERIES—The grocery trade continues rather quiet, as it generally is at this particular time, but with the exception of a firmer feeling as regards Coffee, there are no new features to which reference has not already been made in these columns.

GRAIN—Trade in grain circles continues dull, as it nearly always is at this season of the year, and we do not look for any decided improvement during the next thirty days. Wheat is coming in sparingly, but the market is quiet; prime stock sells readily enough because the offerings are small, but sprouty wheat is hard to dispose of at any price. New Penna. and Ohio red quotable at $1,20a$1,25 for fair to good, and $1,30 for prime; old red, $1,40a1,42; new white, $1,35a1,40. The Oat market is a shade firmer, in consequence of diminished receipts, but prices are no better; Pennsylvania and Ohio mixed, 37a38c; ditto white, 40a41c. Shelled Corn is also a shade firmer, in consequence of a falling off in the receipts, but prices remain as last quoted; 64a67c for good mixed to prime yellow, free in elevator; old ear, 65a68c on track, and new ear, 45a52c, according to quality and condition. Rye continues dull; quotable at 80a85c. Barley very dull, ranging all the way from 75 cents to $1,25.

HAY—The market for baled is steady, but quiet and unchanged; upland prairie, $13a14; No. 1 timothy, $19a20; No. 2 ditto, $17a18.

IRON TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1875.

Pittsburgh.

PIG IRON.—There has been no improvement since the date of our last review, nor was it to be expected, this being a holiday week, hence there was no disappointment; trade has been exceedingly dull, not only this week but for a couple of months or more, and while it is hoped that there will soon be a change for the better, the outlook at the present writing is not very encouraging. The demand continues light, as buyers, without an exception, notwithstanding prices are lower than they have been since the war, are unwilling to anticipate future wants; some were induced to buy during the summer in excess of their immediate wants because it was thought to be cheap, but the same iron could have been bought subsequently for considerably less money, and the consequence is, what little inquiry there now is, is for small lots to supply immediate requirements. There is no question but pig iron is cheap, that current rates scarcely cover actual cost of production, which has been very materially reduced during the past year, yet buyers, as already intimated, having been deceived in the past, are apprehensive of the future. Prices, as compared with last week, have undergone no quotable change; No. 1 Foundry, $26a27; No. 2 Foundry, $24a25; Gray Forge, $23 to 24; White and Mottled, $20a22. Charcoal—No. 1 Foundry, $28a30; mill, $23a25; Cold Blast Car wheel, $30a35 for eastern and $40a50 for western. Following sales were reported:

MANUFACTURED IRON.—Trade in all descriptions of manufactured iron continues sluggish and unsatisfactory; some manufacturers report a slight improvement in orders, while others allege that with them business is more depressed now than it has been at any time since the panic. However, trade is usually dull at this particular time, and our manufacturers generally do not expect to do much until January; some of them will shut down next month, as is their custom, to take stock and make necessary repairs. Stocks are reported light, both in the hands of jobbers and consumers, and this is one of the most encouraging indications at the present time; furthermore, as manufacturers generally have guaged their production by their orders, it is evident that they, too, have light stocks. In the present condition of the market it is simply impossible to give quotations, as there is no uniformity—a great deal depends upon the character of the buyer, the nature of the order, and whether it is cash or time.

NAILS.—The demand continues light, as it nearly always is at this season of the year, and no material or general improvement is looked for until January, or when the spring trade opens up. Prices continue weak, but unchanged; $2,80a2,85, 60 days, with two per cent. discount for cash.

NEW YORK.

AMERICAN PIG.—The week since our last has been a dull one, and no transactions of any consequence have been reported in this market. Our quotations still represent the prices for the best brands, and all others sell at a considerable concession. We quote as last week: No. 1 Foundry, $24; No. 2 Foundry, $22; Gray Forge, $20a21.

RAILS.—The market continues without change. We quote: American Iron, $45a50 at works, and Steel, $68a70 at works.

OLD RAILS.—A sale of 700 tons has been made by a railroad at $23,50, cash, here. This is less than they usually sold for before the war. Most of our railroads have old rails on hand; some of them a great many, which they have been holding for a better market. We quote, $22,50a25.

SCRAP.—The price has declined since our last. We note the sale of 300 tons here at $30, and 500 tons, delivered at Providence, at $32,75. We quote $30a31.

PHILADELPHIA.

Trade continues without material change, but with a somewhat more hopeful feeling than at our last, and certainly with a decided increase in transactions. The break in prices noticeable for the past fortnight, and the gradual acceptance of the fact that iron is selling as cheaply as it will be likely to under any future condition of trade, have together tended to strengthen the demand, which is the first step toward an improvement. Navigation is keeping open quite as long or longer than is usual, and without it is suddenly closed by a cold snap will be likely to continue for a fortnight longer, during which there will be some very considerable sales of pig metal. Manufactured Irons continue to improve. Rails are considerably sought for, and the repairs to so large a number of Government vessels as is required, with the improvement in the demand for ships, will make plates and heavy sections or rolled iron active all winter. Old Rails and Scrap are quiet, but the latter a trifle better than last week. We quote as follows:

PIG METAL.—No. 1 Foundry, $24; No. 2, $22; Gray Forge, $21.

BARS.—2.4c per lb.

RAILS.—45 to $49.

OLD RAILS.—$25 to $26.

SCRAP.—$28 to $30.

THE stage of water last evening was ten feet nine inches, a decline of almost three feet during the twenty-four hours ending at that time. Rained nearly all day, and the prospects at this writing are favorable for more water.

SHIPMENTS of cotton east by rail from Shreveport last week amounted to 2,560 bales.

INCLUDED in the tow of the Blue Lodge is the hull of the burnt steamer Juniata loaded with coal.

THE Exchange and John L. Rhoads were advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Thursday.

THE Granite State failed to put in an appearance, having broke her cylinder timbers near Middleport, causing her to lose a trip.

THE cotton receipts at Memphis this season will foot up five hundred thousand bales, the largest receipts ever known at Memphis.

ALABAMA RIVER is rising rapidly, and the probability is that navigation will be unrestricted from now until the opening of the summer.

THE Laura L. Davis, as will be seen by card, is announced to take her departure for Nashville on Tuesday next; passengers and shippers can rely on the Davis going clear through.

THE towboats James A. Blackmore, My Choice, Whale and Smoky City arrived during Thursday night and yesterday. There are still a number en route, some of which will arrive to-day.

THE Kountz Line steamer Mollie Moore left New Orleans for St. Louis on Saturday with 300 barrels cement, 200 barrels rice, 100 hogsheads sugar, 200 barrels molasses and 200 tons sundry freight.

THE Fearless and barges, Captain J. M. Bickerstaff, are announced to depart for St. Louis to-day, and shippers are requested to get their freight and bills of lading down as early in the day as possible.

THE May Lowrie, Captain Brathwaite, from Bismarck, arrived at St. Louis on Tuesday. She will go South during the winter, and engage in some of the lower bayou trades, for which she is well adapted.

FOLLOWING boats of the coal fleet were in sight last evening: Tom Rees No. 2, Evan Williams, J. H. Bigley, Stella, Whale, My Choice, Jos. Walton, Boaz, Maggie Smith and Hercules. All of these, with one or two exceptions, will get out on this water; some of them have been delayed in getting their tows out of the pools.

The St. Louis Globe, of Thursday, says: The Southern Railroad Convention, which met here on Tuesday, brought here many old steamboatmen who are now swicthed off on railroads. Among the rest were Captains Brickell and Martin, of Pittsburgh, both of whom are now railroaders; and we hope they will be as popular in that business as they were in steamboating, and they will be if appreciated.

CAPT. THOMAS RYMAN, of the Cumberland river fleet, will have a new hull built for the Bermuda, and the new steamer will be ready for business by the time the present business season in the Cumberland river closes—say in May or June next. He will then be the owner of five low water steamers, and we have heard it hinted that he has designs on the Lower Ohio trade next summer, being nothing less than a daily through packet from Louisville to Cairo.

THE Louisville Courier of Thursday says: Night before last a young man named Henry Munson fell overboard from the towboat Alice Brown, at the foot of Sand Island, and was drowned. Every effort was made to save him, but he never rose to the surface after he fell overboard. His brother and he were walking along the guard, when he fell over, throwing a lamp upon the boat and his hat upon the barge. He lived in Allegheny City. His body had not been recovered up to dark last evening.

QUITE a number of towboats got out on Thursday night and yesterday, and the indications are that there will be sufficient water for a day or two to come. Several accidents are reported. The L. W. Morgan sunk a boat belonging to R. & J. Watson, at the Birmingham bridge; the J. S. Mercer struck one against the second pier of the Monongahela bridge, sinking it; this is the property of Hodgins & Morte. The Oakland sunk one at the foot of Brunot, and Jacob Bonner had a barge swamped near the Pork House by the waves of a passing steamer.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch, under date of the 24th, says: Business less active. The John F. Tolle, will not get away from New Orleans till to-morrow, owing to the scarcity of freight. She will be followed by the City of Quincy. The Barge Line sends a tow in the morning. River falling, with 5¼ feet out to Cairo. The Clinton and the Elon G. Smith make excursion trips in the harbor to-morrow, with the delegates of the Railroad Convention. Very little stuff is coming in from upper trade. Capt. R. S. Woolfolk, of Louisville; Captain Adam Jacobs and Captain David Brickell, of Pittsburgh, were visitors on 'Change to-day. Captains Kountz and Gray are still in the city.

Released on Bail.

Thomas Gatewood, the colored post office clerk, who was arrested on Monday evening on a charge of stealing a letter containing money, from the office, was yesterday released on $1,000 bail, by Commissioner Gamble.

Drowned.

A deck hand named John Baker was drowned off the tow boat Belle McGowan, at the foot of Wood street, on Wednesday evening. It is supposed that he walked off the guards. The deceased lived in Port Perry, where he leaves a wife and two children. The body has not been yet recovered, and any information of its recovery should be sent to Mrs. Baker at Port Perry.

Sudden Death.

John Woodson, a colored barber, suddenly fell dead while in McMullans' saloon, on Seventh street, on Thursday evening. The Coroner held an inquest yesterday forenoon, and the jury found that the deceased came to his death from heart disease, superinduced by an excessive use of alcoholic stimulants. Woodson was forty-nine years old, and leaves a wife and three children.

Where is He?

A letter was received at the Allegheny Mayors office yesterday, from Ernst Fahse, from Dautzic, Prussia, inquiring as to the whereabouts of his father John Fahse, who came to this country about eighteen years ago, and is supposed to have purchased a farm in this vicinity. A letter to John Fahse was also enclosed, and he can get the letter by calling at the Allegheny Mayors office.

"Italy."

Rev. W. G. Moorehead will deliver his lecture on "Italy" in the Second U. P. church, corner Sandusky street and Stockton avenue, Allegheny, on Monday evening, November 29th. The lecture is highly spoken of by those who have heard it. This, in connection with the well-known eloquence of the lecturer, who resided in that country a number of years, will doubtless attract a large audience. Tickets are for sale at the U. P. Book rooms, Ninth street, R. S. Davis & Co., 195 Liberty street, and Mrs. M. Spratt 130 Federal street, and also at the door on the evening of the lecture.

Highway Robbery.

About half-past one o'clock this morning, as George Belford, a South Side brewer, was passing along Fifth avenue, near Shingiss street, he was attacked by three young men, and robbed of his watch. They ran, and the police after them. One of the party, named Mackey, was arrested and lodged in the Central Police Station. He said that he would tell who took the watch if given his liberty, which shows that he was implicated in the affair. Mackey was one of the party arrested in the raid on Wilkin's Hall on Thursday night and was only released yesterday morning on payment of a fine.

A Possible Murder.

During the progress of a cock fight at McKee's Rocks on Thanksgiving day, a number of Pittsburgh and Allegheny City roughs, who composed the crowd, got into a quarrel, which may terminate fatally to one of the participants. John Millon was shot in the left side, just below the heart by some person unknown. He was removed to his home, on Walnut street, Ninth ward Allegheny, and Drs. Langfitt and Riggs called. They probed for the ball, but were not able to find it. There is a probability that the wound will prove fatal, although Millon was getting along as well as could be expected last evening.

Improvements on the Hill.

The spirit of improvement is abroad on Observatory Hill, Allegheny. The results will be appreciated by man and beast. A new horse trough, made of stone, has taken the place of the old wooden structure near the head of the stairs leading from Arch street. A pipe has also been laid leading from the spring in the Observatory property down across the road, and a hydrant is to be put there for the accommodation of the people who are above the regular water supply. The improvements are made by the city, and the citizens up there may thank their energetic Councilmen—Messrs. Drum and Wilson—for this attention to their needs.

Arrested for Robbing a Ticket Office.

On Wednesday evening last, Detective Joe McGivern, of Sharpsburg, succeeded in capturing Benjamin Swartzwelder, while the latter was in the act of robbing the money drawer in the W. P. R. R. office in that place. The ticket agents of this company at Sharpsburg and Etna, have been annoyed very greatly for some time past by robberies of their tills at different times, generally when they were at their meals. The matter of discovering the thieves was given into Detective McGivern's hands, with the result on Wednesday evening as stated above. It is said that Swartzwelder has made a confession implicating a number of young men of Sharpsburg and Ætna, some of them belonging to the best families in the places. The confession will aid the officers very materially in breaking up a gang of thieves who have been troubling the two villages for some time past.

Burned to Death.

A child four years of age, named Lizzie Johnson, was burned to death on Thursday evening, at the residence of Mr. Isaac Blakely, on North street, between Forty-first and Forty-second streets. Mrs. Blakely had left the child in the sitting room while she went into the back part of the house. During Mrs. B.'s absence the child took a string, and lighting it at the fire, drew it out, thus setting fire to her clothing. Mrs. Blakely heard the child screaming, and returning found it in flames. The servant girl wrapped the child in a table cloth which she was in the act of removing from the table, and succeeded in smothering the flames. Dr. Boardman was called in, and used every endeavor to alleviate her sufferings, but such was the fearful and extensive nature of her injuries that death ensued some time after midnight.

COAL SHIPMENTS.

The "Run" on the Present Rise.

The present rise in the river has been long looked for by the coal men, and they are now taking full advantage of it. On Thursday and yesterday they were busy getting out the "tows," and a great many boats were started for lower ports. The aggregate of the "run" will reach over five million bushels, of which over four millions have already been started out. Of this amount nearly three millions go to Louisville, half a million to Cincinnati, about four hundred thousand to New Orleans, and the rest to Madison and the Red river. The coal men are cheerful now, as their stocks had been locked up in the pools for several months.

State Supreme Court.

(Before a Full Bench.)

The following opinions were rendered in this Court, yesterday, by Chief Justice Agnew:

G. C. Speyerer et al. vs. Maria Hennett, executrix of Hugh Bennett, deceased; Common Pleas of Beaver. Judgment affirmed.

City of Lancaster vs. the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; Common Pleas of Lancaster. Ordered that the special injunction remain as granted until final hearing and decree, and that the appeal be dismissed with costs.

Estate of D. R. Jones, deceased; appeal of Agnes Lynch. Orphans' Court of Fayette. Decree affirmed with costs and appeal dismissed.

Rood vs. North, Union township; certiorari to the Quarter Sessions of Fayette. Proceedings affirmed.

James Trimble's estate; appeal of Samuel C. Trimble and Mary A. Calhoon from the decision of Orphans' Court of Beaver. Decree affirmed with costs and appeal dismissed.

W. C. Stewart vs. Jno. Stewart et al.; Common Pleas of Mercer. Judgment affirmed.

Waldo Marsh for use vs. the Citizens' Insurance Company. Writ of error from the Supreme Court of the United States presented and ordered to be filed, and it appearing to the Court that the record in said case has been remitted to the Court below, therefore it is ordered that certiorari issue to the Court of the United States, in obedience to the mandate of said writ of error this day filed.

William H. Mechling vs. Samuel McClurken; Common Pleas No. 1 of Allegheny. Rule made absolute awarding the defendant in error damages at the rate of six per cent. per annum upon the amount of the judgment of the Court below, for the reason that the writ delayed the proceedings on the judgment of the lower Court, and was sued out merely for delay.

James E. Brown et al., vs. J. J. Vandergrift et al.; Common Pleas of Butler. Judgment affirmed.

John Stoll vs. Peter Weidman. Common Pleas of Lancaster. The order of the Court made at this term, deciding a re-argument, countermanded, and judgment reversed, an opinion covering this case having been rendered since the order.

Judge Mercur delivered an opinion reversing the decree in the case of Greenwood's appeal from the Common Pleas No. 1 of Allegheny.

Nolan vs. Sweeny, Common Pleas of Butler. Judgment reversed. Opinion by Paxson.

Samuel Taylor, executor, vs. Wm. Kelly, Common Pleas of Lawrence. Dissenting opinion by the Chief Justice, concurred in by Justice Sharswood.

It will be remembered that in this case Justice Mercur delivered an opinion on Monday, changing the right of a husband or wife to testify in cases in which one or the other is an interested party, and disqualified by law from being a witness. Judge Agnew cited numerous precedents in favor of his opinion, which is that "this attempt to be literal violates the main intent and true spirit of the law as well as the very words of the principal enactment, rejects the most fundamental rule or interpretation, which requires us to seek the mind of the law giver, and unnecessarily sets aside that wholesome maxim of stare decisis, which ought to be binding on all Judges, old and new."

Common Pleas Court No. 2.

(Before Judges Ewing and Kirkpatrick.)

A subpœna was awarded in the petition for divorce of M. A. Corbett, by her next friend, from W. A. Corbett.

Court Brevities.

THE State Supreme Court adjourned finally yesterday at three o'clock. The session just closed lasted nearly two months.

IN the Court of Common Pleas No. 1 yesterday, Ludwig Ruffing and wife in the right of the latter, commenced suit for slander against Chas. Sherra.

THE Criminal Court was engaged with the road and miscellaneous argument list yesterday. It will be continued to-day. The Common Pleas No. 2 heard a number of cases on the argument list yesterday, and will continue the hearing to-day. The Common Pleas No. 1 was not in session yesterday.

THE brother of the McGowan who is wanted by the United States authorities for breaking into two postoffices, called upon U. S. Commissioner McCandless yesterday and offered to give bail for McGowan's appearance. The Commissioner was willing to take bail, but informed the brother that the prisoner's presence was a prerequisite to that proceeding.

IN THE record of the Common Pleas Court No. 2 for yesterday, mention is made of the application of Mary A. Corbett for a divorce from her husband, John A. Corbett. Mrs. Corbett alleges that she was married to William on the 10th of last August; that he induced her to drink liquor before the performance of the ceremony, and that during its performance she was under its influence. She is not yet twenty-one years of age, and since the marriage she states her husband has done nothing toward supporting her.

IN the Common Pleas Court No. 2, yesterday, John Hardman commenced suit for damages against W. H. Buckley, of Venango county, for false arrest and imprisonment, and making a false and malicious charge against the plaintiff before a justice of the peace in Venango county. The charge consisted in making an information against the plaintiff for obtaining board upon false pretenses, upon which charge he was arrested and committed for a hearing, and after the hearing was discharged at the cost of the prosecutor.

A THANKSGIVING MURDER.

Homicide on the Southwest Pennsylvania Railroad—Thomas Dobson Shot and Almost Instantly Killed by Samuel Morrow.

Thomas Dobson was shot and killed about one o'clock on Thursday morning, at Scottdale, on the Southwest Pennsylvania Railroad, in Westmoreland county, by Samuel Morrow. The latter is a saloon or barkeeper, and had not been long at home from a church festival, when Dobson, in company with four men, called and demanded liquor. It was not only refused them, but they were told to leave, as Morrow desired to close up for the night. They declined to do so, and became boisterous. Morrow went up stairs, aroused three of his boarders, informed them of the character and disposition of the men below, and requested assistance in putting them out. When Dobson saw that Morrow was in earnest in telling them to leave, and that if they did not do so they would be ejected, he drew a revolver and said that he would blow out the brains of the first man that touched him. He raised the hammer and threw his weapon around with such carelessness and bravado of spirit, that Morrow was induced to do likewise. Dobson fired and Morrow did the same. Both weapons went off at once. The former's bullet did no damage but the latter's struck Dobson in the mouth and passed into his head. The wounded man ran out the door and but a few yards from the tavern he fell dead. His companions had become frightened and deserted him. During the day a Coroner's inquest was held and after a number of witnesses had been examined the jury rendered a verdict of justifiable homicide. Yesterday morning Morrow went to Greensburg and gave himself into the custody of the officers of the law. He was taken before the Court and released on $5,000 bail. His reputation is said to be good and disposition peaceable. That much cannot be said for Dobson, who was known as one of the rough and lawless characters who are so frequently found in mining regions. He was convicted not long since in the Fayette county court of assault and battery with intent to kill. Before he was sentenced he ran away and forfeited his bail. Scottdale is a small, but rapidly growing village on the Southwest road, between Mount Pleasant and Broadford.

Thousands Die Annually

From diseases contracted by wearing boots and shoes which are neither proof agains cold nor dampness. They wear this class of boots and shoes because they can buy them a little cheaper than a good article, but in reality they are much dearer than a good article which costs more. But if there be a house in the two cities where the best quality is sold as low and lower than others sell an inferior and shoddy line of boots and shoes, would this not be the place to patronize? Most assuredly. Well, just such a house is that of R. Taggart, No. 129 Federal street, Allegheny. Nothing less than the very best, at bottom prices, is his method of business.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Brief Notes of Matters Personal and Otherwise.

THE fair and festival season for the churches is approaching.

BISHOP SIMPSON, it is expected, will preach in Christ M. E. Church to-morrow morning.

THE children in the Sunday schools are beginning to look forward hopefully to Christmas festivities.

THERE was a "sociable" in Christ M. E. Church last evening, which was largely attended, and was quite enjoyable.

REV. W. G. MOOREHEAD, of the Fourth M. E. Church, Allegheny, will preach in his own church on to-morrow (Sabbath) at the usual hours.

SERVICES in the Fifth U. P. church, Allegheny, to-morrow at 10½ A. M., and 7 P. M., to be conducted by the pastor, who has returned home.

REV. J. HALL MCILVAINE, of Beverly, N. J., will preach in the Third Presbyterian Church, Sixth avenue, to-morrow morning and evening.

THE first Sabbath in December has been recommended as the day for taking collections for the work of the Presbyterian Church among the Freedmen.

DR. HOWARD will continue his lectures on "Pilgrim's Progress" to-morrow evening. The theme of the discourse will be "Christian's conflict with Apollyon."

REV. G. A. MOFFAT, of East Birmingham Baptist church, South Side, preaches to-morrow morning on "The Way to Success," and in the evening on "Sure Safety."

REV. E. B. SNYDER will preach in the North Avenue M. E. Church to-morrow morning on Christian Stability and in the evening on the death of Vice President Wilson.

PRESIDENT JEFFERS, of Westminster College, has been supplying the pulpit of the Fourth U. P. Church, Allegheny City, during the absence of the pastor, Mr. Moorehead, at Xenia.

THE Rev. Dr. Wm. M. Paxton, of New York, will preach in the First Presbyterian Church, corner of Wood street and Sixth avenue, to-morrow morning and probably in the evening, also.

REV. D. K. NESBIT, formerly of Mansfield, Pa., has received a call to the Hazlewood Presbyterian church. He has not yet given any answer, but will preach to-morrow morning and evening in the church.

REV. MISS A. J. CHAPIN will preach to-morrow at the Universalist Church, corner of Grant street and Third avenue. Subject for the morning, "What to be Thankful for." Evening, "The Destruction of the Wicked."

AMONG the papers to be read at the Presbyterian Centennial, opening in the First Presbyterian church of this city, December 7th, will be one by William Darlington, Esq., on "Pittsburgh as It Was One Hundred Years Ago."

THE missionary sermon preached by the retiring Moderator, Rev. S. J. Wilson, D. D., before the last General Assembly, was repeated by invitation of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, in West Spruce street church, Philadelphia, (Dr. Breed's), on Thursday evening, Nov. 18.

MORE than a year ago, the Sabbath school connected with the Connellsville, Pa. Methodist church, of which Rev. Dr. William Collier was then pastor, provided the means for placing a pupil in the Mission School at Yokohama, Japan. A pupil was soon after selected and named "Mary Collier." Other congregations in the Methodist church are now following suit.

THE consecration of Rev. Dr. W. E. McLaren as Bishop of Illinois, will probably take place early in December. Owing to the infirmities of Presiding Bishop Smith, Bishop McCoskry will doubtless act as consecrator, and with peculiar appropriateness, he having ordained Dr. McLaren both deacon and priest. It is designed to make the consecration a memorable event in the history of the Episcopal Church of the Northwest.

THERE will be services in the Second Methodist Church (Dr. Cowl's) to-morrow morning and evening. A mite society has been organized in this church for the purpose of paying an indebtedness remaining from the painting and renovating done a short time ago. The society is in a flourishing condition, numbering some forty members, which will soon be increased to one hundred. The society will hold a pound sociable on Saturday evening, December 4th.

SUNDAY School workers should call upon Mr. Sidney Omohundro, corner of Wood street and Virgin alley, and examine the parcels he received a few days since from Glasgow, in Great Britain, comprising schemes of lessons, pamphlets on kindred topics, such as flower shows and industrial exhibitions for working lads and girls. These specimens indicate much fertility of mind in the workers across the waters, by utilizing such means for doing good.

THE Board of Managers of the Sunday School Union Normal Class have appointed the following Committee of Instruction: Thomas Bakewell, Esq., Rev. S. F. Scovel, D. D., T. J. Gillespie, Esq., Prof. Leonard H. Eaton and Robert, H. Scott, Esq. The first meeting for lesson drill will be held on next Thursday evening, in the parlor of the Y. M. C. A. Topic—"How to Study a Lesson." Rev. I. C. Pershing, D. D., Normal Conductor. Text papers for the lesson can be had at the noon meeting to-day at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

IF any two or three, quoted so often in social prayer, would but get to work and imitate the early disciples in evangelical effort, go out into the highways and hedges after the perishing people, and by love and good nature compel them to come in, there would soon be a change from iciness to a Pentecost. If the inner circles round the altar were kept close and full, the genial warmth of the meetings would flame and glow, and the church would be stirred as with a mighty rushing wind, and thousands would be converted in a day!—Methodist Recorder.

BAPTISTS of this city anticipate a great day to-morrow. The spacious and handsome new house of the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church (Dr. Pearson's) is to be dedicated. It seats 1,300 people. Services will be given morning and evening by the Rev. Dr. Robinson, President of the Brown University, one of the ablest preachers in the country. Ministers of various denominations will speak to a Mass Sunday School meeting in the afternoon. The following ministers are on the programme for this meeting: Rev. B. F. Woodburn, Sandusky Street Church, Baptist; Rev. Prof. S. J. Wilson, D. D., of the Sixth Church, Presbyterian; Rev. B. F. Brooke, D. D., of Christ Church, Methodist; Rev. Jos. King, of Christian Church, Disciples; Rev. S. R. Frazier, of the Third Church, United Presbyterian; Rev. J. A. Moffatt, of East Birmingham Church, Baptist.

THANKSGIVING evening was duly celebrated at the United Presbyterian parsonage at Sewickley where the congregation gathered in overwhelming numbers, spreading and enjoying the richest banquet of the luxuries of the season. A genial glow of genuine enjoyment seemed to pervade the entire company. The pastor and his wife were much surprised and no little embarrassed by an episode most gracefully introduced by the editor of the United Presbyterian, who after expressing the warm sympathy and confidence of the congregation and pledging their earnest cooperation in the good work, tendered a princely gift in "greenbacks." The pastor responded briefly expressing a high appreciation of their assurance of respect and confidence, a full sympathy with the friendly and social feeling of the occasion, and the obligation of himself and family to their friends.

Sometimes a cold will not yield to ordinary remedies, because of the severe inflammation of the delicate lining of the tubes through which the air we breathe is distributed to the lungs. This condition produces Pain and Soreness, Hoarseness, Cough, Difficulty of Breathing, Hectic Fever, and a Spitting of Blood, Matter or Phlegm, finally exhausting the strength of the patient, and developing very serious disease. Dr. Jane's Expectorant seldom fails to remove these symptoms, by relieving the lungs of all obstructing matter and healing all soreness. Pleurisy, Asthma and Bronchitis, are likewise cured by this standard remedy, and the reputation it has maintained for so many years, affords the best guaranty of its merit.

SANITARY.

Monthly Report of the Physician to the Board of Health.

A meeting of the Board of Health was to have been held yesterday afternoon, but no quorum could be obtained. From the report of Dr. W. S. Snively, Physician to the Board, we learn that there were 190 deaths in the city during the four weeks ending Oct. 30 ult. The death rate was equivalent to 17,64 per 1,000 inhabitants annually against 122.09 for the same period of the year preceding. The number of deaths of children under one year of age was 37, and 41 between the ages of one and five years, making 41 per cent of the total mortality against 49.5 per cent for October, 1874. Diarrhoeal diseases caused ten deaths, against 47 for the previous month. In the mortality from whooping cough a decrease was noted, but such was particularly the case in the mortality from typhoid fever, diptheria, and acute diseases of the respiratory organs. The mortality from scarlet fever remains the same as reported for September. It occurred almost exclusively in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth wards. Typhoid fever prevails throughout almost the entire city, deaths from that disease having occurred in sixteen wards. Three cases of varioloid were reported, but there are more than that number at present. The comparative mortality is reported as follows:

October, 1873, 5 weeks	293
October, 1874, 5 weeks	291
October, 1875, 4 weeks	190

Health Officer Gray reported 465 nuisances abated during the month, 2 suits instituted, 89 permits issued and $64.10 received from permits and other sources.

Excelsior in His Profession.

It has passed into a truism that no man can excel in more than one branch of business, and although many men are versatile and fertile in resource, yet he who devotes his time and attention to one branch of trade, business or manufacture is more likely to accomplish satisfactory results than one with many irons in the fire. Wm. Peoples, stairbuilder of 142 Webster street, Allegheny, makes this branch of business a specialty, and carpenters, contractors and builders know that he has not his superior in this line in the two cities. He attends to all orders promptly and gives unusual satisfaction in regard to style, design and workmanship.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. Mary J. Bell.

We received yesterday the painful intelligence of the death from pneumonia, at Columbus, O., on the 23d inst., of Mrs. Mary J. Bell, widow of the late Wm. M. Bell, of Allegheny, and daughter of the late Judge James Miles, of Miles Grove, Erie Co., Pa. Mrs. Bell was on a visit to a friend at Columbus, whither she had gone but a few days before in her usual health, when she suffered an attack of pneumonia so virulent that her constitution with the best medical skill, and the most tender and assiduous nursing of loving friends, was quickly overcome, and one of the best of women was no more. Mrs. Bell had resided in Allegheny for several years, exemplifying all the traits of a noble womanhood—discharging all the duties of domestic and social life, with constancy and fidelity. An active, intelligent and pious co-worker in the institutions of the church (Episcopal) of her choice; a devoted, sympathizing and helpful friend of the poor; a cultivated and refined lady of lovely and endearing manners; a model of every feminine propriety. Her personal attachments were few, but endearing and strong. Her death comes to many households in Allegheny and Pittsburgh in which she was best known with the force and effect of a family bereavement long to be lamented and mourned. She was strongly attached to her friends in these cities, and loved from time to time to revisit them from the home of her brothers and sisters, to which she returned in her widowhood but a few months ago. Her remains were removed from Columbus and interred yesterday in the family cemetery at Miles Grove.

"She has gone to that happy place,
To be forever blest,
Where she'll see her Father's face,
And in His bosom rest."

Death of Mrs. Mary Espy.

Yesterday morning the sad announcement to many friends, was made of the demise of Mrs. Mary Espy, consort of Col. Wm. Espy of Scott township. The deceased had been in ill health for about a year past and her death was not entirely unexpected but the bereavement was none the less grevious to the family and friends.

Mrs. Espy at the time of her death was in the fifty-ninth year of her age. She was the mother of a family of ten children, boys and girls, all of whom are now living and have reached adult years. In all her relations as a maternal parent she so governed and trained her children as to win their highest esteem and affection. She was one who truly so well performed her duties that her children can "rise up and call her blessed." As a wife she was a helpmeet in the truest sense and one whose counsel and consolation were at all times sought and prized by the husband upon whom her death has fallen as a grievous blow. In social life Mrs. Espy was held in general favor, and had many warm and devoted friends both in the city and in the circles of society centering near her own home. She had long been a faithful member af the St. Clair U. P. Church at Mt. Lebanon, and exemplified in her daily life the beauties of a consistent Christian life and conversation. In her death the church loses one of its most useful and honored members, and the cause of religion, an earnest and faithful, though quiet-working, disciple.

The bereaved husband and children have the sincere sympathies of a multitude of friends in the affliction which has taken from their home its brightest ornament—the central object of affection.

The funeral will take place this morning at 11 o'clock from the residence of her husband at Mt. Lebanon, Scott township.

Dr. Thomas H. Elliott.

Announcement was made yesterday of the death of Dr. Thomas H. Elliott, which occurred at the residence of Mrs. Dr. Dale, 140 Grant avenue, Allegheny City. The deceased was in the fifty-eighth year of his age at the time of his death. He was a practicing physician in our community for many years, and was everywhere esteemed as a Christian physician of great skill and a cultured gentleman. Among his brethren in the medical fraternity he was regarded as among the foremost in enthusiastic devotion to his calling, in profound knowledge of the "healing art," and in such a careful, judicious application of that theory in his daily practice as to win the most marked success. In social life his companionship was highly prized, and his courteous bearing and affability of disposition, won him the sincere and steadfast regard of a multitude of friends. He was a noble representative of the best elements in the ranks of Esculapian disciples, and the news of his death will cause sincere mourning wherever he was known.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, from Dr. Hodge's Church, on Lincoln avenue.

THE REDUCTION MOVEMENT.

Reports Before the Committee Yesterday—Information not Coming in Rapidly—Offices Almost Obsolete.

Another meeting of the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform was held yesterday afternoon, in the Reception Room of Municipal Hall, for the purpose of continuing its work in the reduction of salaries paid to the employes and officials of the city. The members present were Messrs. Glass, Powers, McCandless and Jeremy. Some being absent it was decided to take no definite action upon any matter until every one was on hand. No reductions were recommended, although a number of department reports were presented. The committee men are not a little vexed at the tardiness of some of the heads of departments in neglecting to send in information that would not require half an hour's labor to prepare, and one of them informed our reporter that he believed the object of the dilatoriness was to stave off the accomplishment of the present movement until after the elections have taken place. Then it will fail for the reason that the pay of any city officer cannot be reduced during his term of office. It is slightly presumptuous for gentlemen who are now in office to state to the committee their reasons why the salary of the persons who fill the offices next year should be fixed at an amount less than the same paid the present incumbents. The committee is not supposed to know who are going to occupy the city offices next year, and an officer who objects to a reduction is assuming that he will be re-elected. Of the re-election of some there is no doubt, but that cannot now be said of all.

Among the reports handed in yesterday was the following from Mr. Caskey, Superintendent of Markets, showing the salaries paid in his department:

Joseph Caskey, supt	$1,200
J. F. Moore, clerk	1,200
A. G. Moon, constable	900
John Wrigley, "	900
Chas. Bullock, sweeper	600
Edwin Bardsley, sweeper	600
Thos. Hughes, hauler	600
Hugh Wallace, sweeper	300
John Oeffner, constable and sweeper	900
P. N. Pearson, clerk, South Side	1,000
Mrs. Meyers, assistant sweeper	120
Total	$8,320

Mr. James M. Atkinson, Superintendent of the old Water Works, submitted the following report of the salaries paid in his department:

Lower Works—First engineer, per month, $112.50; second engineer, $72; greaser, $60; two laborers, per day each, $1.80; eight firemen, each, $2; night watchman $2; daylight watchman, 75 cents; carpenter $3.15; two drillers and hydrant men, each, $1.85; four plug and gate men, each, $2.03.

Upper Works—First engineer, $97.53 per month; night engineer, $72; one laborer at $1 per day and one at $1.80; two firemen, each, $2; one watchman, per month, $45.

Forty-fifth Street Works—First engineer, $90 per month; night engineer, $72; two firemen, each $2 per day.

The number of street hands varies according to the amount of work to be done. The wages are, one foreman, per day, $3.15; three caulkers, each $2,03; balance, each, $1.80. All hands work twelve hours a day, and are allowed no extra pay except after nine o'clock at night.

About an hour was spent by the committee in hunting up the salaries and perquisites of officers of whom but little is heard, such as City Gauger, Bark Measurer, Inspector of Ashes, Inspector of Tobacco &c. The fees of the Gauger amount to about $1,400 a year. He gets fifty per cent of his total receipts. If the other offices pay anything it could not be learned yesterday, as no returns are made by incumbents to the City Controller.

The committee will meet again on Monday evening and the clerk was instructed to procure in the meantime all the data he could lay his hands on.

A Misstatement Corrected.

At the late Industrial Exposition the first premium for largest and best collections of business and ornamental penmanship, was awarded to Wm. H. Duff, Penman at Duff's Mercantile College. Almost a week after the close of the Exposition an article was published by one of Mr. Duff's competitors, stating that the Executive committee had awarded him a premium. This statement being unjust to the Committee, which has all along refused to interfere with the awards of the judges, is positively denied in the following letter:

TRADESMAN'S INDUSTRIAL INSTITUTE,
PITTSBURGH, November 24, 1875.
MESSRS. P. DUFF & SONS:

Dear Sir:—In reply to yours of the 22d inst., stating that you had received "the first premium for largest and best display of pen drawing, business and ornamental penmanship," and inquiring if the Executive Committee had awarded a premium for best business penmanship to a competitor, would say the committee has made it a rule not to set aside or override awards of jurors, and did not in this class in which you were a competitor.

CRIME IN THE CITY.

DANIEL KAYLOR was committed for trial yesterday, by Alderman Wilson, on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by John Griffin.

J. SHARP was committed by Alderman McMasters, for surety of the peace, on oath of J. B. Rathbone.

ALDERMAN MCKELVEY yesterday committed to jail for trial, D. W. Parker, for larceny, on oath of Henry B. Aldrich.

A COUPLE of young men were arrested in East Liberty on Thursday for fast driving and taken before Deputy Mayor Lowry. They there conducted themselves in such a disorderly manner that they were held in $100 bail each for a hearing.

JAMES PORTER was arrested on Penn avenue on Thanksgiving afternoon for excessive disorderly conduct, and sent to the Work House yesterday morning for thirty days. George Jones, George Johnson, Peter Harrington, Thomas O'Rourke and Thomas Kelly also went to Claremont for various terms.

ALDERMAN CORCORAN yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Lewis Strapper, charged by Henry J. Weaver with false pretense. It is alleged that Strapper obtained four weeks' boarding and a watch belonging to the prosecutor, on representations that he was employed in Fahnestock's drug store, which representation was false.

A NUMBER of slightly intoxicated persons entered the cigar store of Mr. Wackline, on Penn avenue, between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets, on Wednesday evening, and broke a pane of glass in the show case, and took therefrom a box of cigars. They subsequently returned and upset the stove. The store was in charge of a small boy at the time.

MRS. A. E. KELLY was before Alderman Corcoran yesterday, to make information against Thomas McKenna for malicious mischief. Thomas and his brother got into a quarrel about Mrs. Kelly, and it ended by the former throwing paving stones at Mrs. Kelly's residence. The defendant was committed for trial. Subsequently Mrs. Elizabeth McKenna, the mother of Thomas, made information before the same Alderman, charging Mrs. Kelly with assault and battery, keeping a bawdy house, and enticing her son to the same. Mrs. Kelly was held in $500 bail to answer the charges at Court.

GRAND OPENING.

The New Headquarters for Sweetmeats.

Everybody who possesses a "sweet tooth" should take heed to this announcement. Mr. D. S. McDonald, whose Chicago Caramels swept the boards at the Exposition, will open his new headquarters for sweetmeats, No. 134 Wood street. Mr. McDonald proposes to make a specialty of the manufacture of pure candies, and those delicious Chicago Caramels, which are irresistible to all who have the slightest appetite—and who has not—for toothsome sweets.

The display to-morrow will consist of an exhibition of fine candies and Chicago Caramels, which will be something in that line never surpassed, if equaled in the city.

Mr. McDonald, in establishing his manufactory here, proposes to deal in nothing but pure sweets. He will manufacture the candies and caramels fresh every day. Thus his patrons will not only have the advantage of getting the finest candy and caramels known to the art, but will also get them fresh—a fact which will give them an additional superiority over all others. Remember the number, 134 Wood street, and go to the formal opening to-day.

THE "NORTHWESTERN."

The New Railroad Project in Allegheny.

Another meeting of the sub-committee appointed in relation to giving the Pittsburgh & Northwestern Railroad the right of way through the city, met last evening, Mr. Heagy presiding.

A resolution was adopted that the rights and privileges granted the railroad company by the city shall not be deemed granted until they have constructed their road from Youngstown, Ohio, to Superior station in Allegheny, and have their tracks laid to within twenty miles of Allegheny.

The railroad company was directed to prepare at once a plan showing the exact location of their road from Washington avenue to the western line of the city, and show where the tracks will cross the various streets.

The committee then adjourned until Monday, December 6th.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

The concluding performances by Mr. McWade in the character of Rip Van Winkle will be given to-day—afternoon and evening. His characterization of this difficult role is marked by a smoothness and grace that betoken the care and study he has bestowed upon it, and which well calculate it to afford an evening's pleasure and real enjoyment.

On Monday evening we are to have the charming Mrs. James A. Oates and her English Comic Opera Company. This delightful little actress and singer is always welcome in the Smoky City. She will open in "Girofle-Girofla," and it will be the first production of that sparkling opera in English in this city. "La Fille de Madame Angot" will be presented on Tuesday evening, the "Grand Duchess" on Wednesday, "La Jolie Parfumeuse" on Thursday, "The Princess of Trebizonde" on Friday, and Arthur Sullivan's dramatic cantata "Trial by Jury" and "Les Bavards" on Saturday night.

Library Hall.

No actress holds a higher place in the affection and esteem of our amusement goers than the exquisite and polished Charlotte Thompson, who commences a week's engagement at Library Hall on Monday night as Jane Eyre, a character in which the best critics say that she has no equal, and in which she has met with the greatest success, having played it for a hundred consecutive nights in New York city. The Chicago Tribune says that "the conception of Jane Eyre by Miss Charlotte Thompson displays a loftiness of moral bearing quite unusual upon the stage, and tells a story of something far beyond the mere study or application of a player. It is not merely high and pure. Her delineation of the character is worthy the ideal. She is a handsome woman, with dark, expressive eyes, black hair, and stately, graceful figure, a true artist, and of that exquisite sensibility which forbears a movement which might be too pronounced, even in bold delineation. With a sweet, sympathetic, expressive voice, a manner free from affectation, she presents her heroine as lovable, as tender, and as heroic, as the authoress herself has depicted her. She captivates her audiences immediately, and holds their sympathies with the force and firmness of a great character." Reserved seats are now for sale at Hale's music store, on Smithfield street.

Fifth Avenue Theater.

The sensational play in which Kit Carson and his troupe appear has been drawing largely, particularly in the galleries, since its initial production on Thursday afternoon. Fights are frequent in it, in which Kit is the central figure, of course, and a man is killed or wounded nearly every fifteen minutes. The two closing performances take place to-day.

Academy of Music.

The versatility of the brilliant Katie Putnam has amused and charmed a great many people this week. On Thanksgiving afternoon and evening she filled the Academy as full as it would hold, and the constant ripples of laughter she created in the audience manifested the popular enjoyment and showed how well she understands the art of pleasing. She is one of the sweetest actresses we ever saw. At the matinee this afternoon she appears as Little Nell and The Marchioness, her best impersonations, in "The Old Curiosity Shop." It is astonishing how completely she sinks her identity in these roles. To-night, in the "Little Detective," she will essay five parts.

Trimble's Varieties.

Thanksgiving week has been distinguished by an unusual aggregation of talent at this theater, collected by Mr. Aims so that his patrons might have the benefit of the best performers in the profession. The usual matinee will be given this afternoon.

Grand Fair.

Commencing on Wednesday, December 1st, a grand fair will be given for one week at old City Hall, under the auspices of the Ladies' Charitable Association of the Homeopathic Hospital. Dinner and supper will be served each day.

The Lecture Last Night.

The lecture last night, at Library Hall, by Professor David Swing, was one of the richest literary treats of the season. The audience was not a large one. but it was one that seemed to be generally in accord with the sentiments of the speaker. Professor Swing is a gentleman somewhat above the medium height, with clean shaven face and a countenance which though not handsome, is a very expressive one. He has a clear, metallic voice, not unpleasant to hear, but one which can be heard in all parts of the hall. He gesticulates considerably and forcibly at times, but never very gracefully. He speaks with deliberation, but is a fluent speaker, and never seems to hesitate for language.

He discussed the position of the novel in literature. He ranked it as the ornamentation or the decorative in literature. He strongly advocated the reading of the best novels—not exclusively—but as a means of enlarging the perceptive faculties and giving full, fresher impulses to the mind. Novels he placed below religious, scientific, historical, philosophical and poetical works, but yet claimed that they were as necessary, to the full development of the mind as these, they were the lighter artillery in the world of instructive books, and essential in their place. He also, as a branch of his theme, discussed the styles of the various leading novelists of this and former generations.

The lecture was interlarded with many humorous passages, which elicited great laughter, and occasional sarcastic thrusts at orthodox people, which were perhaps smart sayings, but were in rather bad taste, as they seemed to be "lugged in" simply for the purpose of hitting some imaginary opponent. The lecture was, however, a literary success.

From the Philadelphia Presbyterian.

From the World's Dispensary Printing Office and Bindery, Buffalo, N. Y., we have received "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in plain English; or, Medicine Simplified," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., Counsellor-in-chief of the Board of Physicians and Surgeons at the World's Dispensary. Whoever helps humanity in its struggle with its inherent weaknesses and diseases, to bear or cure, is its benefactor. Ignorance is not only of itself a cause of disease and mortality, but it is the enemy of every effort to cure or mitigate. Nothing will so speedily remove this cause as knowledge (an elementary one at least) of the diseases to which we are heir, as well as those superinduced by our own imprudence. Dr. Pierce has rendered, in our judgment, a benefactor's service, both to the afflicted and to the profession, in his diagnosis of the diseases treated of, and in the presentation of the philosophical principles involved in their cause and removal. He is sparing of remedies, and usually prescribes such as are safe in unskilled hands. As a book merely of abstract knowledge, it is exceedingly readable and interesting, especially the following subjects: Cerebral Physiology, Human Temperaments, Pseudo-Hygiene, the Nursing of the Sick, Sleep, Food, Ventilation, etc. In one chapter on another subject, so delicate in its nature that it is shut up beyond the domain of warning to all but physicians, so accursed in its results in modern society, he is most explicit, and alike true to God, to virtue, to life, and society, shows the truth as presented in the teachings of Scripture—that life begins with conception—with great force, to which is added faithful warnings. Price of the Medical Adviser $1.50, sent post-paid. Address the author at Buffalo, New York.

Hard Times Made Easy.

No one could complain of hard times did the prices of goods fall so as to correspond with the reduction of wages and the stringency of money. In ante-war times there was no complaint of being hard up, because if men made but little the cost of the necessaries of life were proportionately low. We now announce to our readers that this is just what the Boston One Price Clothing House, 95 Smithfield street, is doing and has been doing for some time. Here clothing is offered at prices so low, that the lowest priced laborer can have no excuse, financially, for being without a good suit. Very good suits are sold from twelve to twenty dollars. Talk of bankrupt or pawnbroker's sales of clothing, when at the Boston, goods from first hands can be purchased at lower figures.

In the Near Future.

The gift-making season is not far off, as the choice collection of gift books in store by W. A. Gildenfenny No. 69 Fifth avenue, fully attests. Prompt Reinforcements.

When the physical energies are overtasked or flag through weakness or disease, they need prompt reinforcement. Renewed vigor is most speedily supplied through the medium of a tonic stimulant, and among medicinal resources of that class, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters assuredly deserve a pre-eminent place. Weakness, whether constitutional or arising from disease or over fatigue, cannot be better compensated for than by a resort to this prime strengthening cordial. The enfeebled invalid, the convalescent and the aged and infirm find that it is an unfailing source of vigor and comfort. Its combined tonic and alterative properties also constitute it an invaluable remedy for indigestion, weakness of the organs of urination, constipation, torpidity of the liver, and many other irregularities and disabilities and render it an invaluable protection against malaria, as well as disorders of the stomach and bowels.

THE GREAT REPUTATION

Which VEGETINE has attained in all parts of the country as a

and the large number of testimonials which are constantly being received from persons who have been cured by its use, is conclusive proof of its great value. It is recommended by physicians and apothecaries. As a Blood-Purifier and Health-Restorer, it has no equal.

VEGETINE is not prepared for a fancy drink made from poor liquors, which debilitates the system and tends to destroy health instead of restoring it.

Are not the many testimonials given for the different complaints satisfactory to any reasonable person suffering from disease that they can be cured? Read the different testimonials given, and no one can doubt. In many of these cases the persons say that their pain and suffering cannot be expressed, as in cases of Scrofula, where, apparently, the whole body was one mass of corruption. If VEGETINE will relieve pain, cleanse, purify and cure such diseases, restore the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can be truly called the Great Blood Purifier. The great sourse of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon it to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention. When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or of climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause, the VEGETINE will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body. The conviction is, in the public mind as well as in the medical profession, that the remedies supplied by the Vegetable Kingdom are more safe, more successful, in the cure of disease, than mineral medicines. VEGETINE is composed of roots, barks and herbs. It is pleasant to take, and is perfectly safe to give an infant. Do you need it? Do not hesitate to try it. You will never regret it.

CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

CHARLESTOWN, Mass., March 19, 1869.

H. R STEVENS:

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have used your "Blood Preparation" in my family for several years, and think that, for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors, or Rheumatic Affections, it cannot be excelled; and, as a blood-purifier and spring medicine, it is the best thing I have ever used; and I have used almost everything. I can cheerfully recommend it to anyone in need of such a medicine.

Your respectfully,
MRS. A. A. DINSMORE,
19 Russell street.

WHAT IS NEEDED.

BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1871.

HENRY R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. VEGETINE was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and, after using several bottles, was restored to health, and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared; and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health.

Respectfully, yours,
U. L. PETTENGILL,
Firm of S. M. Pettengill & Co.,
No. 10 State street, Boston.

GIVES HEALTH, STRENGTH AND APPETITE.

There are several others in this place taking VEGETINE, and all have obtained relief.
